As City Convention Ends

District Legion Names County Man

Dwight R. Bush of North Georgetown Post 574 was elevated to commander of the 10th District of the Ohio American Legion at the final business session of the annual convention Sunday afternoon at East Junior High School.

East End Post 374 was host for the weekend conclave, which concluded with a parade of Legion color guards, drill teams and bands.

The Columbiana County resident succeeds Robert Knoble of Apple Creek as head of the district, which includes 79 posts with 14,553 members in Columbiana, Carroll, Coshocton, Harrison, Jefferson, Holmes, Stark, Tuscarawas and Wayne counties.

Gerald E. Knight of Massillon Post 221 was advanced to first vice commander with Walter McCoy of Lisbon Post 275 being chosen as second vice commander, the first step on the ladder toward district commander.

Al Hayes Jr. of Columbiana was elected commander of the district's third division.

The district also endorsed Fr. John D. Kempf of Newcomerstown Post 431 for department chaplain.

Canton was selected as host for the 1964 convention. Bowerstown was picked as the site for the fall conference with the winter conference in New Philadelphia and the spring conference in Apple Creek. The dates will be selected later.

In the county caucus, Bush and Bert Keck of New Waterford, county commander, were elected delegates to the national convention in Miami.

James H. Cregar, past commander and trustee, and Robert Poynter, judge advocate, both of Post 374, were elected first and second alternates to the convention.

The convention opened Saturday night with a past commanders' banquet at the Post 374 home, with Lester Nimon, president, presiding.

Stuart Luginbuhl of Cincinnati, department commander, was the principal speaker.

Following the banquet and meetings of convention committees, a dance was held with Kenny Nichols' orchestra furnishing the music.

The business session opened Sunday morning with the welcome being given by Cregar, who also served as convention chairman. Luginbuhl also spoke briefly.

Reports were submitted by committee chairmen and division and county caucuses were held. Following lunch, the district delegates ratified the division commanders and the national delegates and alternates and selected district officers.

The parade formed at the Thorofare Market lot and followed Pennsylvania Ave. to Mulberry St., where it disbanded. Kenneth Brooks and Harry Dawson were the parade marshals, with Paul Zehnder as announcer.

High Court Will Review Key Cases

Reapportionment Arguments To Be Heard Next Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider a series of reapportionment cases, both legislative and congressional, from the states of New York, Virginia, Maryland, Alabama and Georgia.

Arguments on them will be heard in the court's fall term beginning in October.

The cases involve:

—An attack by radio station WMCA of New York City on constitutionality of apportionment of New York State's legislative districts.

WMCA contended in appealing to the high tribunal that the state had apportioned both houses of its legislature "in intentional disregard of the distribution of population."

—A contention by nine voters of Manhattan Borough in New York City that their constitutional rights were violated in a redrawing of boundaries of the four congressional districts in the borough.

—Efforts by two voters in Atlanta, Georgia's Fulton County, to compel a reapportionment of Georgia congressional districts.

—A review of a Maryland Court of Appeals decision that the Maryland Senate need not be reapportioned.

—A review of a lower court decision that 1962 reapportionment acts of the Virginia Legislature are unconstitutional.

—A review of a temporary plan for reapportionment of the Alabama Legislature ordered by a three-judge federal court in Montgomery.

The three-judge court rejected reapportionment legislation enacted by the Alabama Legislature and ordered the temporary plan into effect for the November 1962 election.

The three-judge court decision, announced July 21, 1962, was the first instance in which a federal tribunal had reapportioned a legislature following the Supreme Court's ruling of March 26, 1962 on the issue. The high tribunal then said the distribution of seats in state legislatures is subject to constitutional scrutiny of the federal courts.

President Urges 5-Point Plan To Ease Race Strife

HONOLULU (AP) — President Kennedy's call for a five-point program to reduce racial tension in cities was taken up today by several of the nation's most powerful mayors who pledged a battle to see it through.

New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner said of the President's message: "It is a real challenge. A lot of us will fight to see that our conference adopts a resolution supporting his position."

Backing up Wagner at the national mayors' conference were Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit and Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh.

Cavanagh, in fact, went farther in support of Kennedy's suggestions, terming civil rights "the most critical problem confronting the nation today. It is more critical than Cuba or Berlin."

Kennedy made a 30-minute speech to the assembled mayors Sunday afternoon, emphasizing that Negroes are certain to win equal rights and calling on the city chief executives to make the process a peaceful revolution.

The President's address capped a five-day, five-state Western tour that carried him from military inspections to political appearances and two talks on civil rights. He flew back to Washington Sunday night to make a major foreign policy speech today at American University.

White House aides termed the university address one of the most significant pronouncements during Kennedy's tenure as chief executive.

Kennedy told the mayors in his address at a Waikiki Beach hotel the time is past "for token moves and talks." It is clear, he said, that Negroes eventually will have equal rights and, "our responsibility, yours and mine, is to see that they are won in a peaceful and constructive manner, and not won in the streets."

The chief executive urged that cities establish biracial human relations committees to identify tensions before they reach crises stage and to help ease them.

He also proposed:

—Every local government make certain its own ordinances and operations are constitutional. "Every instance or institution of segregation sanctioned by local legislation or public action is clearly invalid," he said.

—Each local government abolish discrimination in employing and promoting municipal workers.

—Each city government enact laws assuring the rights of all residents of equal employment and housing opportunities and equal access to public accommodations.

—Each mayor undertake a special campaign to encourage young persons of both races to stay in school in order to increase their chances for steady jobs and thus lessen unemployment among the unskilled. "I think this may prove to be, in time, the most important thing we can all do," the President said.

The mayors' conference resolutions committee went into session immediately after the speech and drafted a six-point program embodying all of Kennedy's proposals, plus a plea that "minority groups be encouraged to recognize the correlation of responsibility and duty with right and that equality of responsibility be encouraged along with equality of opportunity."

Kennedy Pledges No U.S. Firings If Others Don't Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced today that he, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will send special negotiators to a high-level conference in Moscow in mid-July for a new effort to conclude a nuclear test ban treaty.

In announcing this new breakthrough in the long test ban exchanges, Kennedy also declared an immediate ban on any U.S. nuclear tests in the atmosphere so long as other states do not test. This put the specific question of a new round of nuclear explosions in the atmosphere up to Khrushchev.

"We will not be the first to resume," the President said in an address prepared for commencement exercises at American University. "Such a declaration is no substitute for a formal binding treaty—but I hope it will help us achieve one."

The understanding on the Moscow meeting is that it will not be a Summit Session nor a foreign ministers conference but rather a meeting of representatives of Khrushchev, Kennedy and Macmillan, the represntatives to be men who command their highest confidence.

"Our hopes must be tempered with the caution of history," Kennedy said of the conference to break the nuclear deadlock, "But with out hopes go the hopes of all mankind."

In making his announcement Kennedy moved swiftly from one area of crucial national concern to another. He was just back from Honolulu where he made a major plea to the nation's mayors to join in a campaign for racial readjustment.

His big jet plane landed at Andrews Air Force Base at 8:51 a.m. EDT after a flight of 8 hours and 58 minutes from the Hawaiian capital. That left him time for only a brief check-in at the White House before the midmorning speech at the university.

Kennedy made the announcement of the conference and the declaration of his own limited no-test policy as two of the three major points of his speech at the university. In the third part he said:

"Finally, my fellow Americans, let us re-examine our attitude toward peace and freedom here at home. The quality and spirit of our own society must justify and support our efforts abroad."

In this obvious reference to burning civil rights issues, Kennedy declared:

"It is the responsibility of the executive branch at all levels of government—local, state and national—to provide and protect... freedom for all citizens by all means within their authority. It is the responsibility of the legislative branch at all levels, wherever that authority is not now adequate, to make it adequate. And it is the responsibility of all citizens in all sections to respect the rights of all others and to respect the law of the land."

In some degree Kennedy's nuclear testing announcement served to set the stage for his four-nation European tour starting in about two weeks.

Sunday in Honolulu Kennedy called on the mayors to unite in converting the Negro's fight for equal rights into a peaceful revolution.

City Officers Seek To Locate Owner; Theft Suspected

East Liverpool police today continued efforts to trace the ownership of a cash register hauled out of the Ohio River off Klondyke Saturday, suspecting it may be part of the loot from an area burglary.

Clyde Null, 16, of 1808 Michigan Ave. reported recovery of the register to police. He said he and a friend, Larry Gibson, were playing at the boat club docks near the Klondyke School Saturday between 9:30 and 10 a. m. when they spotted the register in the water near the lock.

Null said the two boys fished the register out of the stream and brought it to shore. Some members of the boat club suggested that the discovery should be reported to police, he added.

Officers said it is a chrome-plated National Cash Register Co. machine bearing the serial number 35345745226. All area police departments were notified, as well as the sheriffs' offices in Hancock and Columbiana Counties, officers said.

The report of the recovery of the register was filed with Patrolman William A. Devon. Patrolman Orin C. Smith filed the re-

Lone Ballot To List 4 Tax Plans In Chester

A combined ballot will be used to list all four tax proposals when Chester voters go to the polls Tuesday to decide the fate of a controversial $6 "head tax."

The proposed taxes include $3 for police services, $1.50 for street lighting and 75 cents each for the fire department and the City Park.

The single polling place will be located at City Hall. It will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. A pre-election account Saturday said erroneously that separate ballots would be used for the four propositions.

Macmillan Orders Quiz

Security Aspects Of Scandal Aired

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan returned from a golfing vacation today and ordered an inquiry into security aspects of the Profumo scandal which threatens Macmillan's own career.

The inquiry is being made by Lord Dilhorne, who as lord chancellor is Britain's highest legal authority.

He will determine if British Security was breached or was negligent as a result of former War Minister John Profumo's illicit affair with Christine Keeler, a 21-year-old red-haired party girl who at the same time in 1961, was sharing her bed with Soviet naval attache Capt. Yevgeny (Eugene) Ivanov.

Ivanov is generally regarded as a Russian intelligence agent.

Political sources said Dilhorne's report is in the works and probably will be completed this week. The report will be handed to Macmillan and Labor party leader Harold Wilson but may not necessarily be made public.

Meanwhile, Dr. Stephen Ward, the 50-year-old society osteopath who introduced Christine to Profumo, was brought into the Marlborough St. Magistrate's court today on a charge of living on the proceeds of prostitution. He was ordered held without bail for a preliminary hearing next Monday.

As Ward stood relaxed in the dock in a green sports jacket, pale blue slacks and open-necked shirt, his attorney said Ward "wishes to deny this charge most emphatically."

Chief Inspector Samuel Herbert of Scotland Yard told the court Ward likely will face a number of more serious charges.

Series Of Band Concerts Scheduled On Riverfront

Harking back to the unhurried days of the bustle and the plug hat, a series of band concerts will be presented on the Ohio River shore at the Broadway wharf on hot Sunday afternoons in July and August.

A venture designed to center East Liverpool's attention on its heritage in recreation along the river shores, the concerts are being arranged jointly by the civic and community affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Local 172, American Federation of Musicians, and the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners, which now administers the riverfront.

The first concert is scheduled definitely for Sunday, July 7. Another is being planned for Sunday, July 14, and more may be arranged in August.

The 50-piece East Liverpool Concert Band, comprised of members of the musicians' local, will present the programs. Some of the concerts will be paid for out of the Music Performance Trust Fund, which is built up from royalties paid to the AFM on phonograph record sales.

Eric (Scotty) Young of the musicians' local said the band will hold its first rehearsal Wednesday at the High School, directed by Vincent Maola, the schools' instrumental music supervisor. He said local amateur musicians and boys and girls who play in the High School Band are welcome to "sit in" with the group at its rehearsals and its performances.

Court Erases Law Okaying Plant Seizure

Missouri Statute Ruled Against In Unanimous Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today a Missouri law that authorized the governor to seize and operate a privately-owned public utility when a strike threatens the public welfare. The decision was unanimous.

The law made illegal any concerted refusal to work after a plant has been taken over by the state in the public interest.

Division 1287 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America contended the law conflicted with the federal Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

The litigation arose from a dispute between Division 1287 and the Kansas City Transit Inc., which operates in Missouri and Kansas.

The court's opinion was written by Justice Stewart. He was absent from the high bench today, however, and it was read by Justice White.

4 Young People Hurt In Route 30 Collision

Four Pittsburgh area young people were injured when their car left Route 30 and crashed into a utility pole at Shane's Bend a short distance from the West Virginia line early Sunday morning.

Carnegie State Police investigated the mishap at 2:40, but details were unavailable today. The injured were treated at City Hospital.

They were identified as Arthur Miller, 20, the driver, who suffered contusions of the chest; Edward Litz, 19, abrasions of the right elbow; Elizabeth Vargo, 18, laceration of the right eyebrow and abrasions of the knee, and Nancy Achyilles, 18, lacerations of the forehead, scalp and chin. The auto is believed to have plunged over an embankment after hitting guardrails and the utility pole.

Cumberland Election To Attract Light Vote

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fewer than 1,000 are expected to ballot in the village's biennial election Tuesday, which will feature choosing of a new mayor from among four candidates.

There are 1,360 eligible to vote, according to records of the 1962 general election in Hancock County.

Ballots were marked by 613 voters in 1959, and only 554 in 1961, when Mayor Albert Fuccy was given a sixth consecutive four-year term. He is not seeking re-election.

Seeking the mayor's post in the non-partisan balloting are Mrs. John Paul Jones, James I. Cullen, Samuel A. Minesinger, and Welty Vulgamore Jr.

Wallace Stands Pat At Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Clinging defiantly to his segregation stand and risking a jail term, Gov. George C. Wallace headed today for an imminent crisis at the University of Alabama.

The two Negro students he has sworn to turn back at the university doors returned to Alabama after a weekend in New York to await the showdown.

"We shall defend our rights and we shall dare to do so," the 43-year-old governor said Sunday night.

"I am going to stand for you at the university," he told the people of Alabama in a radio-television broadcast.

The students, Vivian Malone of Mobile and James A. Hood of Gadsden, are to register Tuesday for the summer session. The governor has pledged to be there and stand in their way.

Wallace planned to fly to Tuscaloosa this afternoon from the state capital at Montgomery, 100 miles to the southeast. Tonight, he is expected to confer with members of the university board of trustees who voted to admit the Negroes on the main campus here and a third Negro at the university center in Huntsville.

The governor is ex-officio president of the board and voted against desegregation despite a federal court order.

Before leaving Montgomery, Wallace renewed his appeal to the people to keep away from the university and let him alone carry out a test of state sovereignty.

Already on the tightly barricaded campus with orders to prevent any possible violence are more than 800 state, county, city and campus policemen.

Waiting in nearby armories on standby duty are more than 500 National Guard troops mobilized Sunday by Wallace.

Wallace said in his broadcast that to send "a loyal Southern governor to jail" would amount to military dictatorship.

He was mindful of a federal court injunction forbidding him to carry out his promised blockade of the Negroes.

Wallace made clear that his army of civilian police and the standby National Guard units will be used only to prevent violence and not to bar the Negroes.

Despite the governor's determined stand, Hood expressed hope that he and Miss Malone will be admitted without interference.

Dr. Frank A. Rose, university president, expressed confidence that the university will meet the crisis with dignity.

The first concert is scheduled definitely for Sunday, July 7. Another is being planned for Sunday, July 14, and more may be arranged in August.

The 50-piece East Liverpool Concert Band, comprised of members of the musicians' local, will present the programs. Some of the concerts will be paid for out of the Music Performance Trust Fund, which is built up from royalties paid to the AFM on phonograph record sales.

Eric (Scotty) Young of the musicians' local said the band will hold its first rehearsal Wednesday at the High School, directed by Vincent Maola, the schools' instrumental music supervisor. He said local amateur musicians and boys and girls who play in the High School Band are welcome to "sit in" with the group at its rehearsals and its performances.

Court Erases Law Okaying Plant Seizure

Missouri Statute Ruled Against In Unanimous Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today a Missouri law that authorized the governor to seize and operate a privately-owned public utility when a strike threatens the public welfare. The decision was unanimous.

The law made illegal any concerted refusal to work after a plant has been taken over by the state in the public interest.

Division 1287 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America contended the law conflicted with the federal Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

The litigation arose from a dispute between Division 1287 and the Kansas City Transit Inc., which operates in Missouri and Kansas.

The court's opinion was written by Justice Stewart. He was absent from the high bench today, however, and it was read by Justice White.

Cumberland Election To Attract Light Vote

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fewer than 1,000 are expected to ballot in the village's biennial election Tuesday, which will feature choosing of a new mayor from among four candidates.

There are 1,360 eligible to vote, according to records of the 1962 general election in Hancock County.

Ballots were marked by 613 voters in 1959, and only 554 in 1961, when Mayor Albert Fuccy was given a sixth consecutive four-year term. He is not seeking re-election.

Seeking the mayor's post in the non-partisan balloting are Mrs. John Paul Jones, James I. Cullen, Samuel A. Minesinger, and Welty Vulgamore Jr.

4 Young People Hurt In Route 30 Collision

Four Pittsburgh area young people were injured when their car left Route 30 and crashed into a utility pole at Shane's Bend a short distance from the West Virginia line early Sunday morning.

Carnegie State Police investigated the mishap at 2:40, but details were unavailable today. The injured were treated at City Hospital.

They were identified as Arthur Miller, 20, the driver, who suffered contusions of the chest; Edward Litz, 19, abrasions of the right elbow; Elizabeth Vargo, 18, laceration of the right eyebrow and abrasions of the knee, and Nancy Achyilles, 18, lacerations of the forehead, scalp and chin. The auto is believed to have plunged over an embankment after hitting guardrails and the utility pole.

Risks Jail Term

Wallace Stands Pat At Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Clinging defiantly to his segregation stand and risking a jail term, Gov. George C. Wallace headed today for an imminent crisis at the University of Alabama.

The two Negro students he has sworn to turn back at the university doors returned to Alabama after a weekend in New York to await the showdown.

"We shall defend our rights and we shall dare to do so," the 43-year-old governor said Sunday night.

"I am going to stand for you at the university," he told the people of Alabama in a radio-television broadcast.

The students, Vivian Malone of Mobile and James A. Hood of Gadsden, are to register Tuesday for the summer session. The governor has pledged to be there and stand in their way.

Wallace planned to fly to Tuscaloosa this afternoon from the state capital at Montgomery, 100 miles to the southeast. Tonight, he is expected to confer with members of the university board of trustees who voted to admit the Negroes on the main campus here and a third Negro at the university center in Huntsville.

The governor is ex-officio president of the board and voted against desegregation despite a federal court order.

Before leaving Montgomery, Wallace renewed his appeal to the people to keep away from the university and let him alone carry out a test of state sovereignty.

Already on the tightly barricaded campus with orders to prevent any possible violence are more than 800 state, county, city and campus policemen.

Waiting in nearby armories on standby duty are more than 500 National Guard troops mobilized Sunday by Wallace.

Wallace said in his broadcast that to send "a loyal Southern governor to jail" would amount to military dictatorship.

He was mindful of a federal court injunction forbidding him to carry out his promised blockade of the Negroes.

Wallace made clear that his army of civilian police and the standby National Guard units will be used only to prevent violence and not to bar the Negroes.

Despite the governor's determined stand, Hood expressed hope that he and Miss Malone will be admitted without interference.

Dr. Frank A. Rose, university president, expressed confidence that the university will meet the crisis with dignity.

West Virginia Merchants Take New Law In Stride

By The Associated Press

West Virginia's revamped version of the Sunday closing law went into effect yesterday, but few proprietors paid any attention to it.

Sunday merchants, by and large, stayed open for business as usual. There were no reports of raids or arrests.

Only in the Northern Panhandle did authorities take official notice of the tighter Sunday selling restrictions.

The police chiefs of Wheeling, Weirton and Wellsburg sent patrolmen out to warn several businessmen that they might be in violation of the law.

Sunday commerce at the big discount houses in Charleston, Huntington, Beckley, Bluefield and Parkersburg continued undisturbed.

The manager of the Pic - Way Shoe Mart in Beckley said business was even better than usual because many idle spectators came out to see how police would handle the situation.

Police in Wheeling said one used car dealer told them he was unaware the new blue law restrictions were going into effect yesterday. When he was informed he might be in violation, he immediately closed up and went home, police said.

Other car dealers in the Wheeling area told inquiring officers they were open for service, not for sales.

Under the terms of the new blue law, cars can be serviced on Sunday. Sale of cars, house trailers and real estate is prohibited, however.

Officials of Joe's Bargain Fair, Inc., in Charleston said their store will continue operating openly on Sunday "until the constitutionality of this law has been decided".

A suit filed jointly by three discount stores challenging the validity of the new law is pending in Kanawha County Circuit Court.

Injuries Claim Life Of Worker In Tunnel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Construction worker Arthur B. Boggs, brought out alive after tons of mud and rock crashed down around him in a West Virginia tunnel last week, has died of his injuries.

Boggs, 24, died Sunday in Columbus' Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he had been brought to make use of artificial kidney apparatus.

He was a member of a construction crew hollowing out the 1,400-foot-long Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tunnel about 20 miles southeast of Parkersburg, W. Va., when the cave-in occurred. With Boggs, a resident of Perkins, W. Va., were Robert Airhart, 19, of Parkersburg, and Harry Nichols of Bartlett, Ohio.

The Ohioan still is being sought. Airhart was rescued a few hours later, and crews working knee-deep in mud and underground water seepage finally freed Boggs on Friday.

One Way Out Of The Dilemma

It is interesting now, at the windup of the 1963 session of the Ohio Legislature, to recall a prediction at the outset of the session.

This was the prediction that the House of Representatives and the Senate would tackle the problem of the mish-mash Ohio Blue Law and get nowhere.

The prediction was based on certainty, as revealed in the statewide vote on the Lawson amendment to the Ohio constitution, that no common ground existed in the state's legislative representation.

It was based, too, on a supposition, which proved to be true, that Ohio senators and representatives, being lawmakers, would try to pass a new law to make an outdated, unworkable prohibition seem to be workable.

The only way to get out from under the complications of a bad law is to get rid of it in letter and in spirit, and that was not going to happen in Ohio. The alliance of Blue Law defenders on moral grounds with business interests hopeful of curtailing Sunday merchandising would be too strong.

It was likely that a standoff would develop and nothing would be done about the Blue Law at all. The existing law, which leaves everything to the whim of law enforcers and judges, would continue to frustrate and infuriate Ohioans.

If it turns out this way, Ohio will be that much closer the next time it convenes its Legislature to the realization there is only one way out of the Blue Law dilemma —get rid of the Blue Law.

Rumors Fly

Rumors are flying again that another big-time gambling operation is about to open in northern Hancock County.

Things have been fairly quiet since federal agents recently raided the Jockey Club and halted activity there. It would be to Hancock County's credit if they remain that way.

We hope the rumors of a new operation are only that. The county's law enforcement agencies should be on the alert, however, and nip in the bud any attempt to open a new gambling center.

What Do They Hear From Home?

According to their idealistic constituents, congressmen should line up the right and wrong on all issues and vote for the right. Simple. Easy.

But according to their practical constituents, congressmen should vote for the side that puts on more pressure. Obvious. Logical.

This is the way it would be done in a democracy, explain the pressure advocates. But it's not the way it would be done in a republic, which is what the United States started out to be, say the personal decision advocates.

The truth is the United States is some of each. On some issues, legislators make up their own minds. On others, they have no choice but to put their ear to the ground.

It is not popular opinion they are listening for but pressure. On many issues there is no widespread public opinion anyway. The opinion comes solely from the leaders and members of organized minorities.

This is what a legislator wants to know about before he leaps.

Here is a concrete example:

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., says businessmen must tell representatives and senators they are in favor of tax reduction or they won't get any.

There is no compelling reason for members of the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee to risk the political consequences of voting out tax reduction bills unless they are going to be backed up by businessmen. Without more mail than they've been getting the committeemen will do nothing.

Sen. Smathers is third ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee. He should know what he is talking about.

Unless lawmakers hear from home on tax reduction, there won't be any.

Talk about tax reduction will all have been a lot of hot air signifying nothing.

'Strip' Complaint

Another complaint relative to strip mining has come our way from the Grimms Bridge area. It is one of several received in the last few months.

The latest protest is concerned with some phases of the "stripping" creeping onto private property and being injurious to the waters of Beaver Creek.

Strip mining at its best is not a pretty sight and certainly the operators have every responsibility to see that property lines are respected.

Any tendency to sidestep such responsibility can lead only to the speeding of tighter controls.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I own a full share of gratification in the news you sent us in your letter. Congratulations on the PhD for our nephew once-removed.

Our share is not appreciably smaller than our share in your own education. It is a matter of family satisfaction that each generation should score a little higher in academic achievement.

There is no way of knowing what has been going on in the other branches, but in the family branch that grew in this part of the country this is the first PhD. We have one MD and an assortment of masters.

This is not bad for a pack of clodhoppers and country schoolteachers. It is astonishing how people overlook the significance of educational upgrading.

I was talking to one of your not-too-distant cousins (this one was a cousin once-removed) before the Memorial Day exercises at the cemetery and he told me he was moving heaven and earth to finish his education so he could be a teacher. This is your Cousin Paul's boy, Bill.

Bill didn't see the importance of this when he was in a position to get it. Neither did your Cousin Paul, rest his soul. But Bill sees it now — a wife, five children and a decade of hard knocks later.

Your mother was the first girl in her family to try for an education. She had to settle for half a loaf, but she didn't settle for no loaf at all. She wanted you and your brother to have a whole loaf, though you never acted as hungry as he did.

And now in a third generation there is a doctor of philosophy. And all this has happened as a matter of course. Your aunt and I remember the great-grandparents and the majority of the grand-parents had no education beyond the three R's.

The same thing has happened all over the country. People expect it to happen; this is part of the American dream. The progeny of the people who clawed their way in the New World are reaping the harvest of the dreams sown here by ancestors who straightened up from their toil only to gaze on the stars.

I knew some of them in their old age. I can see them in memory's eye — gaunt men and women with big - knuckled hands, long pointed faces and jutted jaws — a determined looking lot.

They were all there on Memorial Day. It was like the graveyard scene in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town." Others saw nothing but tombstones, but I saw the people whose lives the stones commemorated.

How they worked! But this, too, I know about them, from the stories they told. They had great satisfaction in their unremitting toil. All they asked for was strength, health and enough humor to give savor to their lives.

They're all there in that cemetery and someday I'd like to take the family's first PhD to visit the heroes and heroines who made the whole thing possible. And as to heroes and heroines of the present, count us in. If we hadn't clopped you over the eyebrows with a bat you might still be mooning away your time in the 6th grade, wishing you could get married.

As I said to start with, we have a full share of gratification in the family's first doctor of philosophy.

Upward of half a million young men and women born before nuclear fission, earth orbiting, the cold war, jet airplanes, antibiotics, the United Nations, dissolution of the British empire, television and the less-than-four-minute mile are getting ready to go forth into the world with new college diplomas, and would anyone like to predict what their offspring will see in the next two decades?

The lady I rub on sunburn lotion with says the best way to get a summer tan is to hang out a washing when the sun is shining, but this has no glamor, she admits. Who cares whether a washwoman is tanned or not?

Could it be said that the unrestricted activites of James. R. Hoffa despite so many attempts to restrict him under the law are a thumping testimonial to the importance of retaining good lawyers?

One theme dominates all the warm and wonderful things that have been said about the widely beloved Pope John XXIII. The flow of his friendship was reflected in every word. His good will was so palpable it became a memorial to his life.

It seems to me that all attempts to rehabilitate central urban districts become easy to understand if the districts are regarded as the largest shopping centers of their various communities. Eventually, the new shopping centers will have to be rehabilitated, too.

During my lifetime there has been singular improvement in the appearance and comfort of men's shoes, but some of the shoes I notice from time to time look so foppish and impractical I can only wonder where their wearers bought them. At auctions maybe?

One of my daydreams is about trinkets I might manufacture for tourists, who will buy anything at good stiff prices as a memento of their visit to a point of interest. My strongest inclination is toward a line of souvenir headgear — the zanier the better. Anyone can be conned into buying and wearing a silly hat.

The U.S. Supreme Court frequently loses me in the turgidity of its legalistic hair-splitting, but never more so than in its ruling that an alleged murderer could not be tried in a community where he had appeared in a televised confession of the crime he was charged with committing. As communications continue to develop, where will we find jurors who know absolutely nothing about absolutely everything?

His Work Is Cut Out For Him

Lake Strike Issue Grows Hotter

By Victor Riesel

In the privacy of their guarded conference room at Hyannis Port on May 10, Prime Minister Lester Pearson surprised President Kennedy by suddenly shifting the conversation from nuclear warheads to a labor war which appeared to the Canadian to be almost equally explosive.

Victor Riesel

This was utterly unprecedented in international parleys. Never before had a strike been discussed at a summit sitting. But the Canadian chief explained that the stability of his new administration depended on Mr. Kennedy's pressuring the Seafarers' International Union, led by blond Viking-sized Paul Hall, into ending a long strike against Upper Lakes Shipping, Ltd.

John Kennedy, hardly prepared for the intricacies of a Great Lakes battle between an American union and a Canadian company using a new and rival Canadian Maritime Union, listened.

He was puzzled. But he promised action. He delivered—action. But the strike still is on. This labor war has just begun and behind it is as much international intrigue as there is in a wartime Geneva street scene.

Efforts to end this strike have been given such high priority in the White House that Dean Rusk took time from a NATO meeting in Canada to tell Prime Minister Pearson not to worry. Members of the United States and Canadian cabinets have flown to each other's capitals. Subcabinet officials have been in constant international communication — all in futile efforts to end the strike.

WHY ALL the heat? Why did Lester Pearson tell President Kennedy that the matter should be settled on the South Lakes—meaning the lower end of the Great Lakes—meaning in the United States, meaning a retreat by the Seafarers.

The strike issue is simple. Until 1962 the Upper Lakes Shipping vessels were manned by members of the Seafarers. Then there was a contract dispute. The company signed with the new Canadian Maritime Union replacing the Seafarers. Since then it's been rough going on both sides. There's been violence and bullets have ricocheted along with the insults.

Yet, bullets on this beat have not previously become a matter for heads of state. Why now?

The ship line involved has some 20 vessels plying the Great Lakes. They are bulk carriers, hauling grain and ore during the season. In all, 320 men and women (kitchen help and waitresses as well as sailors; are involved. There have never been more than six ships tied up. At this writing there are three freighters immobilized.

Locks on the St. Lawrence system were tied up for a week, some time ago. But it was the Canadian union which blocked them—and they could have been operated by other manpower, just as our Panama Canal can be worked if need be in time of a strike.

THEREFORE neither the Canadian economy nor the security of the Ottawa government is involved. Hall's Seafarers have contracts with owners operating some 200 vessels, employing some 8,000 persons. On those lines all is peace.

In addition Paul Hall and his colleagues in their ultramodern headquarters in Brooklyn have a reputation for being "stand-up guys." They have fought the waterfront Communists in the United States, and Canada as well, successfully for years. For this the United States owes the Seafarers a considerable debt.

Hall has been an implacable enemy of the hoods. So much so that they've tried to frame him. And worse. Some years ago a gunman was picked up while heading for him. The thug now is in prison.

Hall also has taken on Jimmy Hoffa in many a city, on many a waterfront, and in open streets ranging from Puerto Rico to the Mississippi.

Hall is in a rough business and he knows how to handle himself. When the Canadian labor Congress, the national union coalition above the border, set up the rival Canadian Maritime Union, Hall and his Seafarers decided not to be pushed out.

His, like so many other unions, long has had memberships on both sides of the line. That's why the word "international" appears in the official names of so many unions.

BUT THE CANADIAN Labor Congress has set up more than this Maritime Union. It was the driving force in the launching of a Socialist movement known as the New Democratic party (NDP). When the NDP chose its "Leader" he was carried across the convention hall on the shoulders of one Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

In the recent national Canadian eleciton the NDP rolled up 17 seats in Parliament. Prime Minister Pearson will need those votes from time to time since his Liberal party is four seats short of even a one-man majority.

So, right after the election, Mr. Jodoin, whose party is not too kind to the U.S. "capitalists," went in to see Mr. Pearson. The Canadian labor leader wanted Pearson to pressure Kennedy into pressuring Hall into yielding. Pearson pressured Kennedy.

Why do these Canadians feel so strongly about just one strike? Perhaps there should be set up an international commission. The results would be fascinating.

Which Way The Church?

New Pope To Shape Direction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The struggle among the cardinals in choosing a new Pope will shape the direction of the Roman Catholic Church for years.

The conservatives and those who favor a more liberal policy, when they begin June 19 to elect from among themselves a successor to Pope John XXIII, may hit a stalemate and have to settle on a compromise.

Still, he could be a surprise, one way or the other. Pope John was. He was a compromise and turned out in his short reign of about 4½ years to be the most progressive and adaptable Pope in the 20th century.

That the word liberal can be used to describe some of the cardinals who feel the Church needs changes to adjust to new times is in itself a mark of change.

Only 72 years ago, when Pope Leo XIII wrote his famous encyclical, Rerum Novarum (Of New Things), he denounced liberals in the world by name.

It was a time when part of the liberal tradition was anti-clerical but was particularly associated with European economic thinkers, especially in Britain, who urged free enterprise without government control or interference.

They were the social Darwinians, operating under the philosophy of Herber Spencer's dog-eat-dog society in which the rich were considered superior and the poor deserved to be poor because they weren't smart enough to get rich.

But it was in that encyclical that Pope Leo urged consideration for workers and suggested labor unions. By the time he wrote it in 1891, already some programs of social welfare for workers had been started, but only on a tiny scale.

Pope John, in his encyclical this year, Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth), went far behond Pope Leo's thinking and urged cradle-to-the-grave welfare programs. Nothing showed the changing times better.

Now liberals are no longer associated with the concept of unlimited free enterprise and the word liberal is not identified with anti-clericalism. Some Catholics consider themselves liberal, some conservative.

Liberals today in the economic field, concerned for the general welfare, urge government controls on business. Pope John, unlike Pope Leo, didn't condemn liberals in his encyclical. He didn't mention them.

The most recent visible sign of change in thinking among Church leaders came from Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston and one of those who will choose the new Pope.

He expressed views in the June 15 issue of America, a Jesuit weekly, which would have seemed impossible 50 years ago.

He suggested removing many of the Church restrictions on marriages between Catholics and non-Catholics, specifically proposing elimination of the religious promises required of the non-Catholic partner.

He predicted that the Church's canon law on marriage would be changed as an outgrowth of the Ecumenical Council which Pope John had called into session last fall, the first in almost 100 years. It is expected to resume this fall.

Cardinal Cushing said "canon law is the result of pastoral needs" but that the "needs of one time are not the needs of another" and may not be of "much help to a later generation."

He said, "in fact, they can sometimes be a hindrance in the care of souls." He also urged the gradual elimination of the procedure connected with the Church's index of prohibited books.

Pope John wanted closer unity in the Christian world between Catholics and non Catholics, he wanted reforms in the Church. These were his main reasons for calling the Ecumenical Council.

But in the council meeting approval has to come from those taking part in it, not only curdinals but other church leaders from around the world. It is the cardinals alone who elect a Pope.

But Pope John, in the social and political fields, took steps on his own. For instance, by suggesting a world government and opening the door a bit to dealing with the Communist world. Millions of Catholics are behind the Iron Curtain.

The new Pope will either follow down the road paved by Pope John, revert to real conservatism or try to hit some middle ground. But it was the worldwide good will created by Pope John which caused world-wide regret when he died last week.

Thought For Food

By Richard Spong

If the United States were to donate its entire food surplus for one year to the world's hungry, this would mean the equivalent of only two teacupsful of rice once every 17 days for each person on earth, or an increase of 90 calories per day for each individual. Between 300 million and 450 million people are hungry enough to be seriously underweight and unable to do a normal amount of work. Up to 1.5 billion are malnourished.

A child born in Asia or the Far East today faces the prospect of severe hunger or starvation by the time he is 40 years old. But to meet the consumption demands of millions of the world's people through a giant scheme of food donations would either impose intolerable burdens on taxpayers of donor nations or so disrupt the present system of producing and distributing farm commodities as possibly to destroy incentives in the West.

THIS IS the essence of a report prepared for the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations for study at a World Food Congress meeting in Washington.

The congress itself marks the midpoint of a five-year Freedom from Hunger Campaign launched in 1960 by FAO. The United States, participation in the congress meets a need, suggested by President Kennedy in his farm message two years ago, "for a second international conference on food and agriculture similar to the one held at Hot Springs in 1943 under the leadership of President Roosevelt."

U.S. policy is embodied in the 1954 Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act (Public Law 480). That law provides for sale to friendly countries of excess agricultural commodities and authorizes payment in the currencies of the receiving countries.

The president also is authorized to make grants of excess food "to meet famine or other urgent relief requirements" of friendly countries and of "friendly but needy populations without regard to the friendliness of their government." And the act makes surplus food available for use in barter trade.

Through Dec. 31, 1962, surplus products valued at $17.9 billion had moved or were scheduled to move abroad under Public Law 480. The United States had received in return, or was to receive, nearly $1.5 billion in strategic materials and more than $8 billion in "soft" foreign currencies.

THE WORLD population of more than 3 billion is expected to reach 6 billion within 40 years. There is no doubt of the possibility of meeting food needs in Europe, North America, Oceania, even in Latin America and Africa. The Near East could possibly produce three times what it does today, the FAO reported. The critical areas are Asia and the Far East.

The Times of London, commenting on the FAO report, says the remedy must come from the developing countries themselves. The essential is to raise output per acre by irrigation and new techniques. Once a developing country undertakes a sweeping educational program, the value of educational and technical aid would be great.

Noting that the Western industrial nations and Japan expended almost $6 billion in such aid in 1961 alone. The Times comments soberly: "After two decades of providing such aid on an expanding scale, it has become apparent that a good deal of it is not being put to the best use."

One Way Out Of The Dilemma

It is interesting now, at the windup of the 1963 session of the Ohio Legislature, to recall a prediction at the outset of the session.

This was the prediction that the House of Representatives and the Senate would tackle the problem of the mish-mash Ohio Blue Law and get nowhere.

The prediction was based on certainty, as revealed in the statewide vote on the Lawson amendment to the Ohio constitution, that no common ground existed in the state's legislative representation.

It was based, too, on a supposition, which proved to be true, that Ohio senators and representatives, being lawmakers, would try to pass a new law to make an outdated, unworkable prohibition seem to be workable.

The only way to get out from under the complications of a bad law is to get rid of it in letter and in spirit, and that was not going to happen in Ohio. The alliance of Blue Law defenders on moral grounds with business interests hopeful of curtailing Sunday merchandising would be too strong.

It was likely that a standoff would develop and nothing would be done about the Blue Law at all. The existing law, which leaves everything to the whim of law enforcers and judges, would continue to frustrate and infuriate Ohioans.

If it turns out this way, Ohio will be that much closer the next time it convenes its Legislature to the realization there is only one way out of the Blue Law dilemma —get rid of the Blue Law.

Rumors Fly

Rumors are flying again that another big-time gambling operation is about to open in northern Hancock County.

Things have been fairly quiet since federal agents recently raided the Jockey Club and halted activity there. It would be to Hancock County's credit if they remain that way.

We hope the rumors of a new operation are only that. The county's law enforcement agencies should be on the alert, however, and nip in the bud any attempt to open a new gambling center.

What Do They Hear From Home?

According to their idealistic constituents, congressmen should line up the right and wrong on all issues and vote for the right. Simple. Easy.

But according to their practical constituents, congressmen should vote for the side that puts on more pressure. Obvious. Logical.

This is the way it would be done in a democracy, explain the pressure advocates. But it's not the way it would be done in a republic, which is what the United States started out to be, say the personal decision advocates.

The truth is the United States is some of each. On some issues, legislators make up their own minds. On others, they have no choice but to put their ear to the ground.

It is not popular opinion they are listening for but pressure. On many issues there is no widespread public opinion anyway. The opinion comes solely from the leaders and members of organized minorities.

This is what a legislator wants to know about before he leaps.

Here is a concrete example:

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., says businessmen must tell representatives and senators they are in favor of tax reduction or they won't get any.

There is no compelling reason for members of the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee to risk the political consequences of voting out tax reduction bills unless they are going to be backed up by businessmen. Without more mail than they've been getting the committeemen will do nothing.

Sen. Smathers is third ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee. He should know what he is talking about.

Unless lawmakers hear from home on tax reduction, there won't be any.

Talk about tax reduction will all have been a lot of hot air signifying nothing.

'Strip' Complaint

Another complaint relative to strip mining has come our way from the Grimms Bridge area. It is one of several received in the last few months.

The latest protest is concerned with some phases of the "stripping" creeping onto private property and being injurious to the waters of Beaver Creek.

Strip mining at its best is not a pretty sight and certainly the operators have every responsibility to see that property lines are respected.

Any tendency to sidestep such responsibility can lead only to the speeding of tighter controls.

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I own a full share of gratification in the news you sent us in your letter. Congratulations on the PhD for our nephew once-removed.

Our share is not appreciably smaller than our share in your own education. It is a matter of family satisfaction that each generation should score a little higher in academic achievement.

There is no way of knowing what has been going on in the other branches, but in the family branch that grew in this part of the country this is the first PhD. We have one MD and an assortment of masters.

This is not bad for a pack of clodhoppers and country schoolteachers. It is astonishing how people overlook the significance of educational upgrading.

I was talking to one of your not-too-distant cousins (this one was a cousin once-removed) before the Memorial Day exercises at the cemetery and he told me he was moving heaven and earth to finish his education so he could be a teacher. This is your Cousin Paul's boy, Bill.

Bill didn't see the importance of this when he was in a position to get it. Neither did your Cousin Paul, rest his soul. But Bill sees it now — a wife, five children and a decade of hard knocks later.

Your mother was the first girl in her family to try for an education. She had to settle for half a loaf, but she didn't settle for no loaf at all. She wanted you and your brother to have a whole loaf, though you never acted as hungry as he did.

And now in a third generation there is a doctor of philosophy. And all this has happened as a matter of course. Your aunt and I remember the great-grandparents and the majority of the grand-parents had no education beyond the three R's.

The same thing has happened all over the country. People expect it to happen; this is part of the American dream. The progeny of the people who clawed their way in the New World are reaping the harvest of the dreams sown here by ancestors who straightened up from their toil only to gaze on the stars.

I knew some of them in their old age. I can see them in memory's eye — gaunt men and women with big - knuckled hands, long pointed faces and jutted jaws — a determined looking lot.

They were all there on Memorial Day. It was like the graveyard scene in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town." Others saw nothing but tombstones, but I saw the people whose lives the stones commemorated.

How they worked! But this, too, I know about them, from the stories they told. They had great satisfaction in their unremitting toil. All they asked for was strength, health and enough humor to give savor to their lives.

They're all there in that cemetery and someday I'd like to take the family's first PhD to visit the heroes and heroines who made the whole thing possible. And as to heroes and heroines of the present, count us in. If we hadn't clopped you over the eyebrows with a bat you might still be mooning away your time in the 6th grade, wishing you could get married.

As I said to start with, we have a full share of gratification in the family's first doctor of philosophy.

Lake Strike Issue Grows Hotter

By Victor Riesel

In the privacy of their guarded conference room at Hyannis Port on May 10, Prime Minister Lester Pearson surprised President Kennedy by suddenly shifting the conversation from nuclear warheads to a labor war which appeared to the Canadian to be almost equally explosive.

Victor Riesel

This was utterly unprecedented in international parleys. Never before had a strike been discussed at a summit sitting. Thought For Food

By Richard Spong

If the United States were to donate its entire food surplus for one year to the world's hungry, this would mean the equivalent of only two teacupsful of rice once every 17 days for each person on earth, or an increase of 90 calories per day for each individual. Between 300 million and 450 million people are hungry enough to be seriously underweight and unable to do a normal amount of work. Up to 1.5 billion are malnourished.

A child born in Asia or the Far East today faces the prospect of severe hunger or starvation by the time he is 40 years old. But to meet the consumption demands of millions of the world's people through a giant scheme of food donations would either impose intolerable burdens on taxpayers of donor nations or so disrupt the present system of producing and distributing farm commodities as possibly to destroy incentives in the West.

THIS IS the essence of a report prepared for the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations for study at a World Food Congress meeting in Washington.

The congress itself marks the midpoint of a five-year Freedom from Hunger Campaign launched in 1960 by FAO. The United States, participation in the congress meets a need, suggested by President Kennedy in his farm message two years ago, "for a second international conference on food and agriculture similar to the one held at Hot Springs in 1943 under the leadership of President Roosevelt."

U.S. policy is embodied in the 1954 Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act (Public Law 480). That law provides for sale to friendly countries of excess agricultural commodities and authorizes payment in the currencies of the receiving countries.

The president also is authorized to make grants of excess food "to meet famine or other urgent relief requirements" of friendly countries and of "friendly but needy populations without regard to the friendliness of their government." And the act makes surplus food available for use in barter trade.

Through Dec. 31, 1962, surplus products valued at $17.9 billion had moved or were scheduled to move abroad under Public Law 480. The United States had received in return, or was to receive, nearly $1.5 billion in strategic materials and more than $8 billion in "soft" foreign currencies.

THE WORLD population of more than 3 billion is expected to reach 6 billion within 40 years. There is no doubt of the possibility of meeting food needs in Europe, North America, Oceania, even in Latin America and Africa. The Near East could possibly produce three times what it does today, the FAO reported. The critical areas are Asia and the Far East.

The Times of London, commenting on the FAO report, says the remedy must come from the developing countries themselves. The essential is to raise output per acre by irrigation and new techniques. Once a developing country undertakes a sweeping educational program, the value of educational and technical aid would be great.

Noting that the Western Industrial nations and Japan expended almost $6 billion in such aid in 1961 alone. The Times comments soberly: "After two decades of providing such aid on an expanding scale, it has become apparent that a good deal of it is not being put to the best use."

Ohio College Graduates Told 'To Show The Way'

By The Associated Press

Commencement speakers from across the country sent Ohio college graduates into the world Sunday with admonishments which said, in effect, don't sit on your laurels—get out and show us the way.

"Do not waste time attempting to surmise whether it is your destiny to be a leader or a follower. You have already reached out for leadership and it is within your grasp," was the urging of Charles F. Spahr, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio. Spahr spoke to the graduating class of Baldwin-Wallace College, which included his daughter, Sally.

At Ohio Wesleyan University, the Rev. Samuel R. Smith, educational director of the Firestone Planations Co., Harbel, Liberia, told 400 graduates that leadership is the payment they must make for the privilege of an education. He said the United States must provide the educational and religious leadership for the underdeveloped countries of the world.

Logan T. Johnson, president of Armco Steel Corp., spoke to Miami University graduates of a professional attitude toward whatever they do throughout their lifetimes to "provide you with the self-imposed guidance and control which will help you reach your individual goals."

An opportunity to do more good than ever before ideologically, sociologically and economically was presented to graduates of John Carroll University by James M. Roche, executive vice president of General Motors. Roche said that, as leaders of the free world, Americans face a challenge of understanding what conditions are in other areas of the world and giving developing countries proper guidance and help.

The graduates of the College of Steubenville were told to look beyond themselves, despite the problems of the age. The Most Rev. Joseph H. Hodges, bishop of the Wheeling (W. Va.) Roman Catholic Diocese, said that unless men coordinate their action, a mutual reaction will result in warfare.

Some political advice was offered to graduates of the University of Cincinnati by Charles Sawyer, secretary of commerce under former President Harry S. Truman. "Exercise independence in your voting," he said, "elections are not decided by men and women who never change their view, but by the large and growing group whose support can shift from one party or another."

University of Cincinnati graduates receiving advanced degrees heard from Rear Adm. Edward C. Kenney, surgeon general of the U.S. Navy. He cautioned that overemphasis on scientific and medical research may be creating serious shortages in practicing teachers, doctors and clinicians.

Mrs. Katie Louchheim, deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs, told graduates at Ohio University that the United States should show the uncommitted or enslaved peoples of the world that it has more than "power and material advantage" to offer.

Hiram College's graduates heard Dr. G. Curtis Jones, minister of the Union Avenue Chrstian Church in St. Louis, tell them at baccalaureate: "If you can't tear down the walls of prejudice, at least don't build them."

More graduates left college life behind today. The College of Wooster held its 93rd commencement with Dr. John W. Doddgs, director of special programs in humanities at Stanford University, as speaker.

Doddgs said it is not science that has failed us and brought us to the edge of global disaster, but rather:

"If we are hunting for scapegoats we must be prepared to admit the possibility that it is the humanities, full of talk about the good life and the dignity of man, which have failed. No, not really failed; for the ideal is still recognizable and compelling, and it must be proclaimed."

Oberlin College's 130th commencement, with 439 graduates, featured Ralph E. McGill, noted journalist and publisher of The Atlanta Constitution.

McGill termed the Southern story of the last decade "a melancholy one" yet "one of movement and progress." He scored Deep South politicians who "have chosen expendiency rather than commitment to the national welfare" as having "joined with the mob in attacking the courts."

Denison University's 122nd annual commencement today included awarding of diplomas to 334 seniors. Miami University's president, John D. Millett, spoke.

Millett said that in the next half-century in America, a profound political question must be answere: "Whether a limited government can be preserved, and with it a free society."

"Some say the concept of limited government has outlived its usefulness," Millett said. "If this is so, I fear that the concept of a free society is equally doomed. I doubt indeed that a free society can survive when political society is all-powerful and all-competent."

Millett said limited government can be maintained through vitality of voluntary, private groups like the denominational church, the privately organized college, the civic club, and by a vigorous, informed private economy.

Steel Demand Holding Well

CLEVELAND (AP)—The demand for steel is well above average for the season despite a sharp drop in order entry attributable to the slowdown in inventory building, the magaine Steel said today.

The metalworking weekly said orders for bars, beams, hot rolled strip and coated sheets are declining, but there's not much deferment or cancellation of tonnage on the books. Cold rolled sheets, wide plates and semifinished products are holding their own, it added.

The publication said that while a settlement in steel labor negotions will trigger some order adjustments, it won't precipitate a market collapse.

It pointed out this is certain for two reasons:

—"Users haven't gone overboard on inventory building.

—"They're consuming steel at a near-record rate."

The magazine said that steel users have increased their stocks by no more than 2.5 million tons since the first of the year, compared to a buildup of nearly twice that size prior to last year's labor settlement.

Steel consumption is running about 6.7 million tons a month, with the automotive demand second only to that of 1955, the publication added.

The magazine estimated last week's steel production at 2,609,000 net tons and said the output this week would be about the same level. Production appears to be topping out around 85 per cent of unofficial capacity, it said.

Steel's price composite on No 1 heavy melting grade steelmaking scrap dropped $2 to $25.83 a gross ton last week, the lowest since the week ended Dec. 5.

Outdoors Is For Living

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Time was when we were all happy to get outdoors in summer.

But now that we live out there, we have our doubts, what with fence-to-fence lawn, fancy furniture, exotic plants, artistic lighting, barbecue equipment that is an engineering, production. Some homes have art on the terrace walls.

Everything is getting too precious.

A wonderful stage has been set. But the family wants to know: when does the play begin.

Nobody enjoys the rules and regulations.

Dad is accused of running the lawnmower into the new patio furniture, and nicking it. The kids are told to take off their shoes when they walk on the grass.

There is barbecue grease on the patio walk, charcoal ashes on the deck, and shame on the feet on the new chaise lounge cushions.

C'mon now, let's enjoy the summer.

Trees are for little boys to climb. And if you can't play baseball in your own backyard, well, now! But Mom worries about those glass hurricane lamps, clay strawberry barrels and her prized dahlias.

The Junior set has been fast losing ground anyway to parents; projects. How can we have slides and swings when we need a pretty lawn for croquet, asks Mom, who has just become an expert on crab grass removal.

If the man of the house says he will be 'dandelioned' before he'll lie in the broiling sun and clip the grass around the trees with manicure scissors, he's got a point. Visitors will never notice the different, unless they're midgets.

The trouble with the new fancy outdoor diggin's is not so much that there is no diggin' allowed, but rather that the family just doesn't dig the rules.

Everybody must be prepared to take his post when a dark cloud appears. Perish the thought, but it happens—everything must be moved into the cellar until the shower is over. How many times can one do this with vigor during a rainy spell?

Let's get a new perspective on our outdoor living, and live it up. If the cushions aren't waterproof, and dirtproofed, we're sorry, Mom. And if your outdoor furniture can't take it, for shame, you're not a good shopper.

Breakable gear doesn't belong outdoors with the elements. And if you insist on taking a facsimile of the kitchen stove into the yard, you had better make a slipcover for it, or suffer the consequences.

We don't mind tiptoeing through the tulips that you've placed in the entrance path, and putting raincoats over the boxwood when it storms, but couldn't we please use the swimming pool if we promise not to get the water too dirty?

Several Methods Suggested To Help Wipe Out Dampness

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The drastic change in building procedures, plus the fact that most older houses were built upon more or less high ground, leaves the average new house either on low ground, built upon concrete slabs, or upon shallow foundations, with crawl-spaces taking the place of full cellars.

Providing that all necessary precautions are taken by the builder, there is nothing wrong with houses on low ground or houses built over crawl-spaces. Unfortunately, builders do not always take the required precautions and as a result many a new house is a damp one. We would add that a damp house is not only unhealthy but is also subject to rapid deterioration.

The person who buys a house which is obviously lower than adjoining houses can be sure, in most cases, that his plot is the last and most undesirable of all the plots the builder has to sell.

Now, providing that after a house is bought it is found to be damp, there are several methods available which will aid in decreasing the dampness.

The first is establishing a firm lawn which will absorb water away from the house foundation. The second is building a barrier of some kind which will prevent the surface water from adjoining plots from coming over on your low property. This is a perfectly legal procedure. The third method is waterproofing the basement or crawl-space in order to prevent the penetartion of water through the foundation walls.

There are several good and substantial products available for this use. The fourth method is the installation of a sump and pump which will get rid of any basement or crawl-space water. A fifth method is to provide ample ventilation beneath the house to take advantage of maximum evaporation.

Tips Are Offered On Doing Over Of Hardwood Floor

Question: We soon will be doing over the hardwood floor in our living room. A friend has recommended what he calls a synthetic resin finish.

I believe I have heard of this product being used in commercial establishments. Is it practical for home floors?

Answer: The type of floor finish which falls into the synthetic resin category is excellent for floors in the home.

It is a surface coating with a tough, durable film that wears well, even under heavy traffic. It can be applied by brush or roller and dries quickly. A second coat can be applied in an hour, but the first should be sanded lightly. Two coats are sufficient to produce a satin sheen, but if a high gloss is desired, a third coat should be applied after overnight drying.

The manufacturers of this type of finish often point out that it can be kept bright and clean by dusting with a dry mop or wiping with a damp cloth, dispensing with constant waxing.

One point we'd like to make: no matter what kind of finish you use, the success of your job will depend to a large degree on how much care and effort you put into the removal of the old finish and the preparation of the wood for the new finish.

When you need to mix a beaten egg with a hot mixture, be sure to pour the hot mixture very slowly into the egg, stirring constantly as you do so. This way of mixing prevents the eggs from curdling.

Steel Demand Holding Well

CLEVELAND (AP)—The demand for steel is well above average for the season despite a sharp drop in order entry attributable to the slowdown in inventory building, the magaine Steel said today.

The metalworking weekly said orders for bars, beams, hot rolled strip and coated sheets are declining, but there's not much deferment or cancellation of tonnage on the books. Cold rolled sheets, wide plates and semifinished products are holding their own, it added.

The publication said that while a settlement in steel labor negotiations will trigger some order adjustments, it won't precipitate a market collapse.

It pointed out this is certain for two reasons:

—"Users haven't gone overboard on inventory building.

—"They're consuming steel at a near-record rate."

The magazine said that steel users have increased their stocks by no more than 2.5 million tons since the first of the year, compared to a buildup of nearly twice that size prior to last year's labor settlement.

Steel consumption is running about 6.7 million tons a month, with the automotive demand second only to that of 1955, the publication added.

The magazine estimated last week's steel production at 2,609,000 net tons and said the output this week would be about the same level. Production appears to be topping out around 85 per cent of unofficial capacity, it said.

Steel's price composite on No 1 heavy melting grade steelmaking scrap dropped $2 to $25.83 a gross ton last week, the lowest since the week ended Dec. 5.

OPEN HOUSE WILL BE HELD all this week by the Veteran Plate Glass Co. at its establishment on Broadway. This exterior view shows the new structure at the left and the remodeled office building. John Dalessio is the owner.

Outdoors Is For Living

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Time was when we were all happy to get outdoors in summer.

But now that we live out there, we have our doubts, what with fence-to-fence lawn, fancy furniture, exotic plants, artistic lighting, barbecue equipment that is an engineering, production. Some homes have art on the terrace walls.

Everything is getting too precious.

A wonderful stage has been set. But the family wants to know: when does the play begin.

Nobody enjoys the rules and regulations.

Dad is accused of running the lawnmower into the new patio furniture, and nicking it. The kids are told to take off their shoes when they walk on the grass.

There is barbecue grease on the patio walk, charcoal ashes on the deck, and shame on the feet on the new chaise lounge cushions.

C'mon now, let's enjoy the summer.

Trees are for little boys to climb. And if you can't play baseball in your own backyard, well, now! But Mom worries about those glass hurricane lamps, clay strawberry barrels and her prized dahlias.

The Junior set has been fast losing ground anyway to parents; projects. How can we have slides and swings when we need a pretty lawn for croquet, asks Mom, who has just become an expert on crab grass removal.

If the man of the house says he will be 'dandelioned' before he'll lie in the broiling sun and clip the grass around the trees with manicure scissors, he's got a point. Visitors will never notice the different, unless they're midgets.

The trouble with the new fancy outdoor diggin's is not so much that there is no diggin' allowed, but rather that the family just doesn't dig the rules.

Everybody must be prepared to take his post when a dark cloud appears. Perish the thought, but it happens—everything must be moved into the cellar until the shower is over. How many times can one do this with vigor during a rainy spell?

Let's get a new perspective on our outdoor living, and live it up. If the cushions aren't waterproof, and dirtproofed, we're sorry, Mom. And if your outdoor furniture can't take it, for shame, you're not a good shopper.

Breakable gear doesn't belong outdoors with the elements. And if you insist on taking a facsimile of the kitchen stove into the yard, you had better make a slipcover for it, or suffer the consequences.

We don't mind tiptoeing through the tulips that you've placed in the entrance path, and putting raincoats over the boxwood when it storms, but couldn't we please use the swimming pool if we promise not to get the water too dirty?

Several Methods Suggested To Help Wipe Out Dampness

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The drastic change in building procedures, plus the fact that most older houses were built upon more or less high ground, leaves the average new house either on low ground, built upon concrete slabs, or upon shallow foundations, with crawl-spaces taking the place of full cellars.

Providing that all necessary precautions are taken by the builder, there is nothing wrong with houses on low ground or houses built over crawl-spaces. Unfortunately, builders do not always take the required precautions and as a result many a new house is a damp one. We would add that a damp house is not only unhealthy but is also subject to rapid deterioration.

The person who buys a house which is obviously lower than adjoining houses can be sure, in most cases, that his plot is the last and most undesirable of all the plots the builder has to sell.

Now, providing that after a house is bought it is found to be damp, there are several methods available which will aid in decreasing the dampness.

The first is establishing a firm lawn which will absorb water away from the house foundation. The second is building a barrier of some kind which will prevent the surface water from adjoining plots from coming over on your low property. This is a perfectly legal procedure. The third method is waterproofing the basement or crawl-space in order to prevent the penetartion of water through the foundation walls.

There are several good and substantial products available for this use. The fourth method is the installation of a sump and pump which will get rid of any basement or crawl-space water. A fifth method is to provide ample ventilation beneath the house to take advantage of maximum evaporation.

Tips Are Offered On Doing Over Of Hardwood Floor

Question: We soon will be doing over the hardwood floor in our living room. A friend has recommended what he calls a synthetic resin finish.

I believe I have heard of this product being used in commercial establishments. Is it practical for home floors?

Answer: The type of floor finish which falls into the synthetic resin category is excellent for floors in the home.

It is a surface coating with a tough, durable film that wears well, even under heavy traffic. It can be applied by brush or roller and dries quickly. A second coat can be applied in an hour, but the first should be sanded lightly. Two coats are sufficient to produce a satin sheen, but if a high gloss is desired, a third coat should be applied after overnight drying.

The manufacturers of this type of finish often point out that it can be kept bright and clean by dusting with a dry mop or wiping with a damp cloth, dispensing with constant waxing.

One point we'd like to make: no matter what kind of finish you use, the success of your job will depend to a large degree on how much care and effort you put into the removal of the old finish and the preparation of the wood for the new finish.

When you need to mix a beaten egg with a hot mixture, be sure to pour the hot mixture very slowly into the egg, stirring constantly as you do so. This way of mixing prevents the eggs from curdling.

New Season Inaugurated For Beaver Creek Camp

The 1963 season was inaugurated Sunday at the Beaver Creek United Presbyterian Church Camp, sponsored by the Mahoning and Steubenville Presbyteries.

Thirty - five campers were enrolled for the first session, a Senior High camp, with the Rev. Harry Holfelder of Carrollton as director. Rev. Holfelder and the counselors began arriving at the camp site Saturday afternoon.

At a meeting of the trustees Saturday at the camp site, Mrs. Allen C. Pepin of East Liverpool, registrar - secretary, reported that 525 have been signed for the camp sessions to date. Enrollment has closed for the Junior High 3 and Junior 1 and 2 sessions, she reported.

Robert D. Hummer of Girard, chairman, presided. The Rev. Gene Toot of East Liverpool led the opening prayer.

Rev. Toot termed the work days held on May 11 and 18 "the most successful the camp ever has held." All the cabins have been painted and needed repairs are completed, he reported.

Mrs. Elizabeth Larick, Christian Education director of the Warren First Presbyterian Church, reported on books which have been purchased for the camp library for use of directors and counselors.

Don Walter of Minerva, chairman of the administration committee, reported that Rev. Toot, Miss Larick and the Rev. R. W. McInroy of Vienna will appear on television station WSTV at Steubenville June 26 at 1 p. m. to discuss the camp, its aims and goals.

The meeting closed with prayer. A basket picnic followed for the trustees and their families.

The Rev. John Borter of Hanoverton, director of the Junior 1 camp, conducted preliminary planning for the session at the site Saturday for counselors. A picnic was featured.

Dryer Malfunctions; Firemen Cut Off Gas

A malfunction in a dryer sent firemen to Patterson - Wetzel Cleaners on E. 3rd St. early Sunday, one of three alarms answered by the department over the weekend.

Firemen said the malfunction caused the gas flame to come out of the front of the dryer. They turned off the gas. The alarm was received at 6:05 a. m.

The department was called to E. 5th and Washington Sts. at 9:48 p. m. yesterday to quell a fire in a trash receptacle. A lighted cigarette had been discarded in the trash, firemen said.

A lighted cigarette apparently tossed from a passing car damaged the front seat of a parked car of James Walker, 909 Orchard Grove Ave., at 5:27 p. m. Saturday at Orchard Grove and Jennings Ave., firemen said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My eyes almost popped out when I saw your advice to the girl who was weeping because she had a shape like an ironing board. The poor girl said she'd be happy if she could fill even a 32 bra.

You told her if measurements were that important to go to a lingerie shop and treat herself to a padded 36.

You must be nuts. What in the world would her friends say? Here this dame has been built like a flagpole all her life and suddenly she turns up looking like a "Miss America."

Honestly, Ann, I think you're getting too old for the job. Why don't you turn in your typewriter for a rocking chair? — SURPRISED AT YOU.

Dear Surprised at Me: Whether the girl is built like a Greek goddess or a 10-year-old boy is not important. What "her friends" say is equally unimportant. What is important is how the girl feels about it.

Any girl who is in a state of depression because of her measurements should do something about it. If this ridiculous thing means so much to her I say go ahead and buy some happiness.

Juvenile Husbands

Dear Ann: We have two sons, 24 and 26 years of age. We have never been rich people, Ann, but we always managed to see that our boys had everything the well-to-do boys in their crowd had. We thought it would make them happy and well adjusted.

Something must have gone wrong because at this moment their wives are both living with us and the boys are living in a hotel. This has happened before. Whenever our sons have a tiff with their wives they dump them on us because we have a big house and the girls like my cooking.

Both of these girls have mothers of their own and one lives right in town but they never go home, they always come here. My husband says, "Isn't it wonderful that our sons' wives feel so friendly toward us?"

I would gladly forego the compliment if they would settle their domestic problems and stay home. What should I do now?—TIRED.

Dear Tired: You've always pulled chestnuts out of the fire for your sons and they expect it.

The best favor you can do this quartet of warriors is to insist that they take their troubles to a marriage counselor or a clergyman and get their marriages back on the track. So long as you are willing to run open house for fighting couples you'll have roomers and boarders forever.

Dear Ann: How I wish my mother had had the benefit of your counsel. It has taken me nearly five years to straighten myself out.

For years I rebelled against my mother's authority, and I was in deep trouble with myself because of it. As you know this is the worst trouble of all.

Few people understand how too much authority can warp adolescent thinking. Please tell them again that the parent who is too domineering and too strict can do just as much damage as the parent who exercises no authority at all — STILL RECOVERING.

-:-

Dear Still: I will keep telling them, and thank you for adding your voice to mine.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cited Driver Changes Plea

A hearing was scheduled for June 19 at 9:30 a. m. in Municipal Court for an East End man charged with using a false and fictitious name in applying for a driver's license after a motion this morning to change the plea to not guilty was granted.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff approved the motion of Atty. Phillip A. Crino of Youngstown to withdraw a "no defense" plea and enter a not guilty plea for Austin Wayne Hoschar, 35, of Mulberry St.

Hoschar's bond of $200 was continued by Judge Chertoff.

The "no defense" plea had been entered this morning but Atty. Crino asked to withdraw the plea and substitute the innocent plea after conferring with Hoschar and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark.

The affidavit against Hoschar, who has been bound to the Grand Jury on two bad check charges, was filed by Police Capt. Robert H. Pyle. Capt. Pyle said Hoschar used the name "James Rodgers" and an address of 304 Washington St. in applying for the driver's permit.

The affidavit was filed May 22 but a continuance was granted until May 29. His attorney then asked for the continuance until this morning.

Hoschar was held for the Grand Jury under a $3,000 bond after pleading innocent to two charges of issuing fraudulent checks.

Cited Driver Changes Plea

A hearing was scheduled for June 19 at 9:30 a. m. in Municipal Court for an East End man charged with using a false and fictitious name in applying for a driver's license after a motion this morning to change the plea to not guilty was granted.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff approved the motion of Atty. Phillip A. Crino of Youngstown to withdraw a "no defense" plea and enter a not guilty plea for Austin Wayne Hoschar, 35, of Mulberry St.

Hoschar's bond of $200 was continued by Judge Chertoff.

The "no defense" plea had been entered this morning but Atty. Crino asked to withdraw the plea and substitute the innocent plea after conferring with Hoschar and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark.

The affidavit against Hoschar, who has been bound to the Grand Jury on two bad check charges, was filed by Police Capt. Robert H. Pyle. Capt. Pyle said Hoschar used the name "James Rodgers" and an address of 304 Washington St. in applying for the driver's permit.

The affidavit was filed May 22 but a continuance was granted until May 29. His attorney then asked for the continuance until this morning.

Hoschar was held for the Grand Jury under a $3,000 bond after pleading innocent to two charges of issuing fraudulent checks.

The continuance was ordered because Judge McClure will be away from the county June 27, the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny said today.

Trial for the veteran tax deputy, accused of defalcation of tax funds between Jan. 1, 1933, and Sept. 13, 1962, now is set for Aug. 27 at 9:30 a. m. in Circuit Court in New Cumberland.

Driver Seeks Trial By Jury

A motion for a jury trial and seeking to quash the drunken driving affidavit filed against a West End motorist by a Wellsville priest was submitted this morning in Municipal Court prior to the start of a scheduled hearing.

Atty. George A. Aronson filed the motion on behalf of Jessie James Flowers, 44, of 927 Fairview St.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set next Monday at 9:30 a. m. for arguments on the motion to allow Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark to check the motion and prepare an answer.

Atty. Aronson's motion asked the court to issue an order quashing the affidavit and to suppress the evidence of the complaining witness, Fr. Gerald X. Curran, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Wellsville.

Flowers was taken into custody the night of May 28 on the Loblaw Market parking lot on Dresden Ave. after he halted his car in response to the tooting horns of Fr. Curran and Robert Barber, 102 Pan Ave., Chester, police said. Fr. Curran said he and the Chester man trailed Flowers' weaving auto until he halted.

Arraigned before Judge Chertoff on May 29, Flowers was granted a continuance until May 31 to secure counsel. A second continuance was granted to allow Atty. Aronson time to prepare the defense.

Meanwhile, Pauline Edith Taylor, 500 Central Ave., was fined $15 and costs this morning after pleading guilty to a speeding charge filed by the State Highway Patrol. She was cited Wednesday while traveling 70 miles an hour between Wellsville and East Liverpool, the patrol said.

the Chamber committee which is helping arrange the concerts.

"On a hot summer afternoon when the highways and parks are crowded and there's nothing but reruns on television, what could be more pleasant than to sit on the shady banks of the Ohio and listen to good music," Allison commented.

He pointed out the East Liverpool shoreline already has been turned into a mecca for boating enthusiasts, who sometimes travel 50 miles or more to put their boat into the water here.

Young said the local has cut its scale in order to be able to present more concerts and use more musicians. He said 8 or 10 outstanding High School musicians generally join in the Concert Band's summer performances on an unpaid basis.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

'Gunsmoke' Still Outdraws Imitators

"Gunsmoke" fans are one group who didn't have to worry about their favorite show returning to TV next season. Matt Dillon and his hardy little band of cronies have stayed within Nielsen's sacred Top 10 circle for eight years, which is like holding a straight flush in a game of five-card stud.

Hal Humphrey

One week last winter, a frightening chill hit the network and people at "Gunsmoke" when Nielsen's rating list revealed the show suddenly had dropped into 26th place.

-:-

PRODUCER Norman Macdonnell was afraid to open his office door, for fear he would be handed either his notice or a vial of quick-acting poison.

"But everything worked out all right," says Norman now, with a sigh. "It seems there was a championship basketball game somewhere in the East, and 25 of CBS' key affiliate stations preempted 'Gunsmoke' that night to televise the game. Naturally we couldn't get a rating if we weren't on the air in those cities."

Norman is thankful his epitaph didn't have to read, "He was shot down, accidentally, by a basketball game." It proves again how delicately one's future is balanced in TV.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO, Norman convinced his bosses at CBS radio to present "Gunsmoke" as a radio drama. Norman and his partner, writer John Meston, wanted to show that the Western should grow up a little. It was Norman, in fact, who first used the phrase "adult Western" to describe what he was aiming at.

In 1955, three years after the radio debut, CBS-TV decided to give it a try on TV. The show was recast and a new producer brought in to put it on film. A year later, however, Norman was also given the producer reins on the TV series while still keeping his eye on the radio version, which lasted until the summer of '61.

Most of the "Gunsmoke" scripts have come from what Norman likes to describe as Meston's "grubby little typewriter," and many of them have been minor classics. As Meston wrote them, Norman saw to it they were hatched with loving care and protected from the "helpers."

-:-

"IF TOO MANY people turn out to help you, the stories seem to get grayer and grayer," explains Norman.

Periodically, he and Meston are badgered by agency men and network brass (and sometimes even the cast members), who will say defiantly, "You can't do that." Meston has a stock reply. "Show me in the book where it says I can't," he says, doggedly.

Except for times when the heat was too heavy, Norman and Meston have managed to keep "Gunsmoke" as honest, unfrilly and different as they know how.

In spite of all the "adult Westerns" copied from "Gunsmoke," it will be the only one left on the air next season. And since they are too modest to say it themselves, I will say that it has been Norman and Meston's talents and integrity which have made this so.

-:-

THE CBS-TV NETWORK is going on a big-name guest-star kick next fall, for some reason or other. When the work got to Norman, he knew he was in for another round with the "helpers."

"I don't mind using some guest stars, but I want to use them as the scripts call for them. I don't want Meston to write scripts which have the star just helping Matt round up the baddies," Norman says.

In other words, he is still trying to keep "Gunsmoke" what it always has been, or tried to be, and that is stories about people and their environment — which may not be as easy to do if Barbara Stanwyck and Danny Thomas are in "Gunsmoke" as "special guest stars."

Investor Groups Given Notices Of City's Bond Issue

Investment groups of public agencies have been advised of the $1,240,000 bond issue planned by the city to refinance debt incurred in 1956 and 1957 for construction of the sewage system and treatment plant, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate has announced.

Applegate said the notices required by state law have been sent to the Public Employes Retirement Board, the Ohio Industrial Commission, the School Employes' Retirement Board and the State Teachers' Retirement Board. The groups frequently buy municipal bonds for their retirement funds.

An ordinance for the sale of the bonds cannot be enacted by Council until 10 days after the notices have been given the public agencies, the auditor explained.

The refinancing plan is scheduled to be handled by the firm of Fahey, Clark & Co. of Cleveland. In refinancing the 1956-57 bonds, the city has been promised a saving of $54,338. Legislation declaring the city's intention to adopt the Cleveland firm's plan was enacted at the meeting Monday night.

Retired City Native Seeks New Post In Peace Corps

A globe - trotter most of his adult life as an airline employe, an East Liverpool native expects to continue the role as a Peace Corps teacher now that he has retired.

He is George I. Zollinger of Denver, recently retired after 18 years as an airlines chief statistician, who explained his Peace Corps plans during a weekend visit with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Zollinger, 108 W. 5th St.

Shortly after retiring from a post with United Airlines, he made an around - the - world swing by plane, touching at most nations of the civilized world. Just before stopping off in East Liverpool, he went to Washington to check on the status of his Peace Corps application.

Zollinger learned that he may be called to Peace Corps duty by the end of the week. He indicated he would like to serve as a teacher or in some related field in education, preferably in Japan, which he learned to love during his frequent travels.

Zollinger was born in East Liverpool, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Zollinger. A graduate of East Liverpool High School, he attended Kenyon College and later was a student at Ohio State University, enrolled in pre-medical work.

He worked as chief statistician for Capital Airlines prior to its merger with United. Most of the time he worked at Washington. About 18 months ago, he transferred to Denver and later was sent to Chicago. Retired from the airline in Chicago, he returned to Denver to make his home.

Zollinger was in Washington Thursday to check on his Peace Corps application. He stopped here Friday night to see his brother, who is clerk of City Council, departing again Sunday afternoon.

During his service with the airlines, he traveled to many foreign countries, including England, Germany, the Holy Land, the Far East and several sections of South America.

On a visit to Russia three years ago, he was taken ill. But he commented that the Russians furnished him "with very good treatment" and helped his recovery.

During his visit here, he talked over old times with a number of local acquaintances.

It was the first visit of the two brothers in four or five years.

"Every time I got a postcard from him, it was from a different place," his brother commented.

While serving with the airline in Washington, Zollinger was able to spend most of the winter weekends in Florida and the summer weekends in Canada. In the winter, he flew to Florida on Friday evening, returning Sunday night in time to go to work Monday morning. Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

'Gunsmoke' Still Outdraws Imitators

"Gunsmoke" fans are one group who didn't have to worry about their favorite show returning to TV next season. Matt Dillon and his hardy little band of cronies have stayed within Nielsen's sacred Top 10 circle for eight years, which is like holding a straight flush in a game of five-card stud.

Hal Humphrey

One week last winter, a frightening chill hit the network and people at "Gunsmoke" when Nielsen's rating list revealed the show suddenly had dropped into 26th place.

-:-

PRODUCER Norman Macdonnell was afraid to open his office door, for fear he would be handed either his notice or a vial of quick-acting poison.

"But everything worked out all right," says Norman now, with a sigh. "It seems there was a championship basketball game somewhere in the East, and 25 of CBS' key affiliate stations preempted 'Gunsmoke' that night to televise the game. Naturally we couldn't get a rating if we weren't on the air in those cities."

Norman is thankful his epitaph didn't have to read, "He was shot down, accidentally, by a basketball game." It proves again how delicately one's future is balanced in TV.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO, Norman convinced his bosses at CBS radio to present "Gunsmoke" as a radio drama. Norman and his partner, writer John Meston, wanted to show that the Western should grow up a little. It was Norman, in fact, who first used the phrase "adult Western" to describe what he was aiming at.

In 1955, three years after the radio debut, CBS-TV decided to give it a try on TV. The show was recast and a new producer brought in to put it on film. A year later, however, Norman was also given the producer reins on the TV series while still keeping his eye on the radio version, which lasted until the summer of '61.

Most of the "Gunsmoke" scripts have come from what Norman likes to describe as Meston's "grubby little typewriter," and many of them have been minor classics. As Meston wrote them, Norman saw to it they were hatched with loving care and protected from the "helpers."

-:-

"IF TOO MANY people turn out to help you, the stories seem to get grayer and grayer," explains Norman.

Periodically, he and Meston are badgered by agency men and network brass (and sometimes even the cast members), who will say defiantly, "You can't do that." Meston has a stock reply. "Show me in the book where it says I can't," he says, doggedly.

Except for times when the heat was too heavy, Norman and Meston have managed to keep "Gunsmoke" as honest, unfrilly and different as they know how.

In spite of all the "adult Westerns" copied from "Gunsmoke," it will be the only one left on the air next season. And since they are too modest to say it themselves, I will say that it has been Norman and Meston's talents and integrity which have made this so.

-:-

THE CBS-TV NETWORK is going on a big-name guest-star kick next fall, for some reason or other. When the work got to Norman, he knew he was in for another round with the "helpers."

"I don't mind using some guest stars, but I want to use them as the scripts call for them. I don't want Meston to write scripts which have the star just helping Matt round up the baddies," Norman says.

In other words, he is still trying to keep "Gunsmoke" what it always has been, or tried to be, and that is stories about people and their environment — which may not be as easy to do if Barbara Stanwyck and Danny Thomas are in "Gunsmoke" as "special guest stars."

Investor Groups Given Notices Of City's Bond Issue

Investment groups of public agencies have been advised of the $1,240,000 bond issue planned by the city to refinance debt incurred in 1956 and 1957 for construction of the sewage system and treatment plant, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate has announced.

Applegate said the notices required by state law have been sent to the Public Employes Retirement Board, the Ohio Industrial Commission, the School Employes' Retirement Board and the State Teachers' Retirement Board. The groups frequently buy municipal bonds for their retirement funds.

An ordinance for the sale of the bonds cannot be enacted by Council until 10 days after the notices have been given the public agencies, the auditor explained.

The refinancing plan is scheduled to be handled by the firm of Fahey, Clark & Co. of Cleveland. In refinancing the 1956-57 bonds, the city has been promised a saving of $54,338. Legislation declaring the city's intention to adopt the Cleveland firm's plan was enacted at the meeting Monday night.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: I wash a load of clothes almost every day and, of course, I starch some pieces. I don't throw away my leftover starch water. I pour it in a half-gallon jar and put it in the refrigerator to use the next day. I always mark the jar with adhesive tape so the children won't think it is a new kind of drink!

I wash — rain or shine — because I have several lines fixed up in my garage. When hanging up sheets I hang other clothes over them and they get dry just as fast and saves clothesline space. The next day I take them in and put another load on the line. I am so used to hanging them in my garage now that I don't even think about the lines in my yard.

I used my pillow slips for my baby bassinette, when the children were small, in place of sheets. Much easier to put on and they don't wrinkle the way a sheet does.

I also use pillow slips for chair backs in my kitchen over my plastic and chrome set sometimes. Sure is cool in summer. Easy to remove and wash, too.

MARY S. BEACH.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: For a quick-drying hair-set, I put my curlers in a bowl of hot water. Drain the water, leaving the curlers in the bowl. Shake each curler as it is used and then roll hair. Cover the hair after it is rolled up with a damp hairnet. Just enough moisture for curls but they will dry in a jiffy.

For a real quickie — just roll your hair with completely dry curlers and then cover the head tightly with a damp hairnet.

J. K.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a trick for making hamburgers. I just use a large jar lid and line it with wax paper and press the meat with it. The waxed paper releases the hamburger patty and they are all exactly the same size. It's so easy.

MRS. L. FREITAS.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you know that if you glue a rubber fruit jar ring on the bottom of your kitten's or dog's eating bowl that it won't slip and slide across the waxed floor in your kitchen?

My kitten had trouble because she always licks one side of the bowl and it scoots across the kitchen floor. My mother told me to do this and it solved our problem.

DEBRA SANDS.

SILENT NURSE

DEAR HELOISE: If you have an invalid in the house, or just a temporary sickbed patient, it's a grand idea to drag out that lazy susan and put it on the bedside table.

Put the medicine bottles and pills in the middle of the lazy susan with a glass of water.

In each individual section put all the little things the patient is likely to need, such as cigarettes, matches, medicine spoons, facial tissues, etc. Then when the bed patient needs something it saves you many steps as he can just rotate "Susan" also it prevents cluttering up the bedside table.

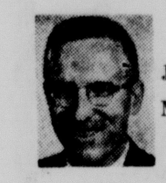

Children especially love this. I always put the alarm clock in the middle of the gadget and set the alarm — so when it goes off they know it's time to take their pills. I put the bill bottle next to the clock. In other spaces I put their crayons, scissors, pencils, etc.

Gem-Wise
Jewelry fashions, facts, fictions

By J. A. LOCKE, JR.

Travelers smitten with the lure of foreign shores are often tempted to bring home some enduring momento of their trip. The idea of getting a fantastic "bargain" is also uppermost in their mind, and with some items of merchandise, this is a definite possibility. However, this is not true in the area of precious gems or fine jewelry.

Every jeweler can tell you story after story about friends and customers who paid exorbitant prices abroad for what is supposedly a "rare alexandrite," precious "black" pearls, or an exotic "ruby". Often, the purchases were made from people in distress or at small shops, where bargaining over price is the accepted rule.

To explode a few popular myths, beware of buying Alexandrites at a high price in any country. While they are an extremely exotic gem exhibiting a color change from emerald green in daylight to a ruby red under artificial light, genuine Alexandrites are very scarce. The ones most tourists bring home are nothing more than synthetic sapphires, or treated glass. The color change exhibit is nothing like the true Alexandrite, but since so few have ever seen the genuine stone, travelers are easily fooled.

Most of the black pearls on the market today are ingeniously treated to attain their distinctive grey to black color. For many years, the dying process was a secret jealously guarded by certain families in France and Japan. The treating of off-color cultured pearls in this manner certainly makes them more attractive, but does not increase their value to anything approximating that of the natural black pearl. However, since these are extremely scarce, there is little possibility of travelers being given an opportunity to purchase one unless they are in the gem importing business.

Worms Attack Pines; Remedies Suggested

LISBON — Area pine plantings, especially Scotch and Red Pine, are being infested with large numbers of pine sawfly larvae, according to Don Myers, county agriculture agent.

These worms, about an inch long, feed upon the old needles, and can cause severe damage to the trees, he said. The larvae are full grown by the last half of June, following which they pupate and no longer consume pine needles.

Chemical controls are DDT or lead arsenate. Hand picking is effective on a limited number of small trees, but impractical in many cases, he said.

Eyes Can Be Injured In Viewing Eclipse

Persons living in Maine and across Canada will be able to see a total eclipse of the sun on July 20, 1963, and a partial eclipse farther south in the United States. In one of the children's magazines for June-July is an article by Dr Donald H. Menzel, Director, Harvard College Observatory, Cambridge, Massachusetts, on "Shadows in the Sky," telling of the forthcoming eclipse of the sun. Dr. Menzel warns all watchers: "Never look straight at the sun, because the bright light and heat of the sun can hurt your very sensitive eyes. Ordinary dark glasses aren't dark enough, either.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"IT IS SAFE TO look at the sun through several layers of dark, overexposed photographic film. Or, even better, you can make a smoked glass. Hold a small piece of window glass in a candle flame until the glass is covered with black soot. Move the glass rapidly in and out of the flame so that it won't get too hot and crack. Let the glass cool off each time before you put it back in the flame."

Dr. Ferree of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness advises that eclipse blindness has even occurred in persons using such devices.

He recommends as the safest measure an eclipse viewer made from white cardboard and says: "By punching a pin - hole in a small sheet of cardboard and holding the cardboard in the sun's rays, it is possible to focus the image of the sun on a second cardboard held several feet away."

As a person's eyes are so precious, this device is worth considering.

We will do pretty well, however, if we can even cause most children and adults to look through a piece of window glass heavily smoked in a flame while watching an eclipse and not to stare at it for too long a stretch.

—:—

THE UTAH SOCIETY for the Prevention of Blindness reports the following in "The Sight-Saving Review."

In September, 1960, the Physics Department of the University of Utah announced that a partial eclipse of the sun would be observable throughout Utah on the 20th of that month. The eclipse appeared as announced.

After a month the Utah Society for the Prevention of Blindness began to contact all eye physicians of the state to find out if they had examined any patients with eye burns as a result of viewing the eclipse.

Despite forewarnings announced in leading newspapers by the Utah Society, 31 cases of eclipse burns were reported by the 49 eye physicians practicing in Utah. Twelve of the 31 were children, one to twelve years of age. Young eyes seem to be especially vulnerable to solar burns.

To quote from the bulletin:

"Ordinarily, people don't look directly into the sun because it's too uncomfortable. But in the apparent twilight of an eclipse, there is great temptation to watch the darkening of the sun. It is then that the injurious rays from the portion still visible may inflict permanent damage, because the retina has no pain fibers to indicate that the eye has been overexposed.

—:—

"PARENTS ARE advised to keep a sharp eye on their youngsters during an eclipse to prevent them from damaging their eyesight by prolonged staring at the sun."

Tiny infants are often put outdoors on a blanket or in a baby carriage. Lying on the back, the infant may easily stare at the sun and not readily turn its eyes and head away from it.

Here is a hazard about which there has been little or no warning. Perhaps more children become blinded by and in this way than the number who stare at a solar eclipse. Who knows?

Outstanding Pupils Named At Grandview

Billy J. Mumaw and Lisa Reed were named the outstanding pupils of the Grandview School at the annual fourth grade party, sponsored by the Grandview Parent-Teacher Association, Friday night at the Lawrenceville American Legion home.

Annual American Legion awards were presented by Donald VanDyke, commander.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mumaw of Lawrenceville and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Reed of Grandview.

Seventeen pupils, parents and guests, including C. B. Smith, principal, attended and participated in games and dancing. Lunch was served by the PTA and the post auxiliary. Charles Huffman of East Liverpool, 1st District American Legion vice commander, spoke briefly.

Mexican Agents Nab Contraband Shipment

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—A contraband shipment of about one million pesos—$80,000 U.S. — in one-peso silver coins was seized Sunday by Mexican customs agents.

The shipment, according to Guillermo Alarcon Najera, Mexican federal customs collector, was to have been smuggled into the United States.

3 County Courts Pay Treasurer $4,079

LISBON — A total of $4,079.44 was paid to the county treasurer by the three County Courts during May, according to Carl L. Stacey, clerk of courts.

A breakdown shows $2,206.65 from fines and $1,872.79 in civil and criminal cases and court costs.

The state treasurer received $1,666.35 for its 45 per cent of the State Highway Patrol fines.

The courts at Salem, East Palestine and Lisbon handled 245 criminal cases and 42 civil.

Sheriff, constable and city police fees paid out amounted to $770.88, Stacey said.

Light Turnout Marks Sicily Assembly Vote

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Sicilians voted Sunday for a new 90-member regional assembly for this Italian island.

Three million persons were eligible to vote, but the turnout appeared so light election officials allowed parties to get out loudspeakers and sound trucks and urge people to the polls.

Results of the election probably will be known tonight.

Skinny Teen-Ager Asks For Help

A bony, bony lassie writes:

"I'm so fed up with being called 'that skinny little kid'! I've been told I have nice looking legs and a pretty face ... but I look like a pencil from the waist up. My back is bony, my chest skimpy and my arms puny. There must be some diet you could put me on that would help.

Ida Jean Kain

"I spend nearly every day of summer in a bathing suit, so you can see the fix I'm in. Please don't tell me to sit back and wait and that I'll get curves later on!"

Don't sit back and wait. Get in and swim! There is nothing to equal swimming for rounding upper arms and adding curves. Make it a regular practice to do so many lengths of the pool every day. Start with a couple of lengths and gradually increase.

—:—

PULLING AGAINST the resistance of the water affords the kind of exercise that can change you into a bathing beauty. Learn all the swim strokes. Use the back stroke to strengthen back muscles and cover the shoulder blades.

Hit a rhythm, it's fun and coaxes your shoulders into beautiful line. The old - fashioned breast stroke works directly on the pectoral muscles which influence the bust contour. You'll want to be proficient at the crawl stroke, also.

Exercise can't make fat, so any overweight girl need not fear that swimming will add to her troubles. Exercise normalizes — builds where you need developing, rounds out curves and tones down bulges.

On the nutrition score: The nutrients in foods work better together...call it nutrition teamwork. See to it that you eat three well-balanced meals, patterned on the Protective Four Food Groups. The protective nutrients are furnished in dairy foods; meat group; vegetables and fruits; bread and cereals.

Start your day with a nourishing breakfast. If you're not hungry in the morning, move about a bit and you'll feel more like eating. Appetite comes with regular eating. Never skip meals or postpone the meal hour. Add booster calories in the form of nutrition snacks. Between meals, instead of taking a soft drink, have a glass of milk.

If you are really interested in turning into a health girl with vigor, get interested in nutrition. Learn about the interplay of vitamins, minerals and proteins, as well as calories for building curves.

—:—

THE BOOK "Food Becomes You," by Dr. Ruth Leverton will help you. Ask for a copy at the library, it's on the approved list of nutrition books.

Read it and put the information into daily practice. In 30 days you'll begin to look and feel like a new girl.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Grade A Nutrition For Thin Girl." Address request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Quiet Week Due For Legislators

WASHINGTON (AP)—It looks like another week of slim pickings for Congress, which apparently is determined to stay in session again until well after the first frost of fall.

Only one major measure is on the dockets of the Senate and the House, both of which spent a quiet week last week.

It is the controversial area redevelopment bill, which some Republicans claim isn't necessary and has been used to promote the cause of the Democratic Party.

The bill, scheduled for House debate Wednesday, would add $450 million to the $379.5 million authorized program to help business and industry in areas of high unemployment.

The House has no business today. Tuesday it will consider the annual appropriation bill to finance Congress, and on Thursday it will vote on the annual extension of emergency tax rates imposed during the Korean crisis.

The Senate calendar is slimmer. It now includes only several migratory labor bills.

Federal Troops Come So Police Get Day Off

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico (AP)—Federal troops were called into patrol the streets of Nogales, Mexico, on Jan. 4.

The reason: It was National Policeman's day and the entire Nogales police force was given a holiday.

Planning a vacation? Be sure to call ahead for reservations. And plan now to keep in touch with those back home. Share all your vacation fun by long distance. Call often.

Quiet Week Due For Legislators

WASHINGTON (AP)—It looks like another week of slim pickings for Congress, which apparently is determined to stay in session again until well after the first frost of fall.

Only one major measure is on the dockets of the Senate and the House, both of which spent a quiet week last week.

It is the controversial area redevelopment bill, which some Republicans claim isn't necessary and has been used to promote the cause of the Democratic Party.

The bill, scheduled for House debate Wednesday, would add $450 million to the $379.5 million authorized program to help business and industry in areas of high unemployment.

The House has no business today. Tuesday it will consider the annual appropriation bill to finance Congress, and on Thursday it will vote on the annual extension of emergency tax rates imposed during the Korean crisis.

The Senate calendar is slimmer. It now includes only several migratory labor bills.

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico (AP)—Federal troops were called into patrol the streets of Nogales, Mexico, on Jan. 4.

Farm Agent's Report

Frost Damage Reduces Area's Strawberry Crop

Although the district's strawberry crop is being harvested, production will be limited severely by recent frost damage, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agriculture Extension Service in Canfield.

A limited supply of local stawberries will be available throughout June, Watkins said. Raspberries will be the next local fruit crop in the market, beginning to arrive late in June, he added.

Cantaloupe prices again are a bit lower this week, but still are not in the economical range except for a few store specials. Quality on this item still is quite variable, with a considerable amount below par as far as taste and flavor is concerned.

The color of the skin under the net is one of the best indications of ripeness. Many choose cantaloupe on the basis of odor, but some kinds have little odor even when they are ripe.

Increased supplies of watermelons have brought prices down this week. Qualities has been generally excellent. With retail prices of medium size melons now below $1, a more gradual decline in price can be expected for the next few weeks.

Georgia and South Carolina are in one of the few regions of the country that report an abundant peach crop. Prices on this product have been high, as is normal for the beginning of the season.

These prices have brought into the market peaches which were not yet ready, with a lot of small, green fruit on display. This condition is changing and a better quality riper product can be expected this week.

Prices are beginning to trend downward on this fruit and are more reasonable this week. Further declines can be expected for the next few weeks.

The first quantity of blueberries is now on the market. This product is coming from North Carolina and will be more plentiful next month when supplies from the Northern growing areas are available.

This week bananas provide the largest bulk of fruit with prices a little below average for the year.

Economical selections for fresh vegetables now include cabbage, carrots, potatoes, radishes, green onions, peppers, tomatoes, spinach, and cucumbers. Prices on asparagus and celery declined a bit this week.

At the meat counter prices of pork have again risen a bit as live animal prices continue an upward trend as we get into the period of the year when fewer hogs are sent to market. In general cuts from the shoulder are less in demand at the time of year and may have some price advantage in many markets. These cuts would include fresh picnics, shoulder roasts and pork steaks.

Prices on cured pork cuts, ham, picnics, callas, cottage rolls and bacon still are priced below the level that can be expected during the next several weeks.

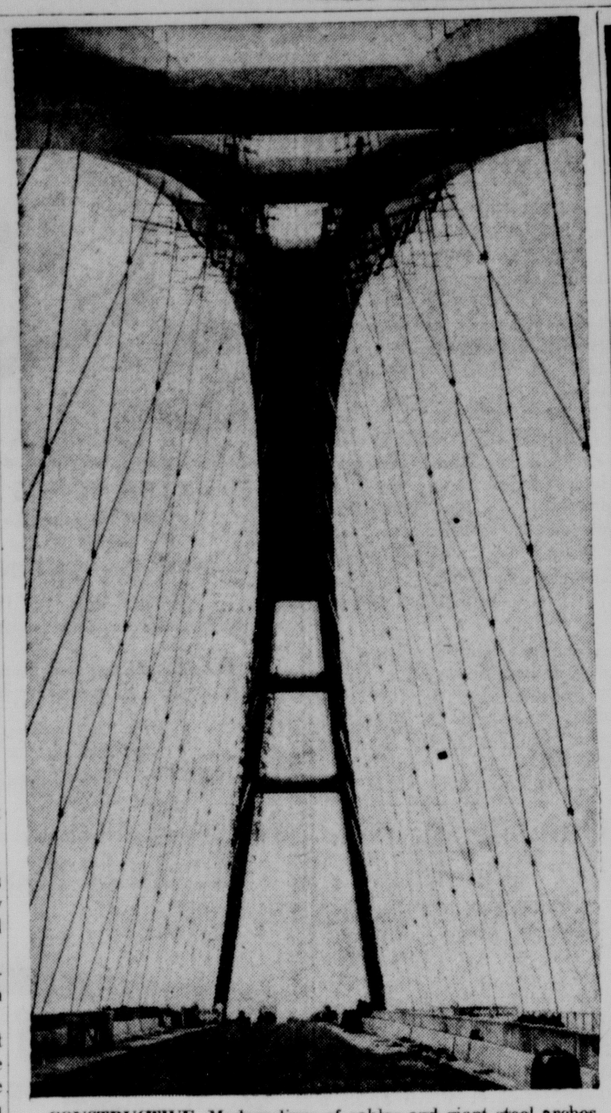

These cuts commonly take a little longer time to catch up with live animal prices.

Market forecasts indicate that pork prices will hold at about the present level for most of the summer. Actually this price is a return to a more normal level after a low priced period during the spring.

Boston Knocks Orioles From Perch; White Sox In First

5 In Row Give LA Slight Lead

Colts 'Kick' Giants, 3-0

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers prepared today for another showdown with San Francisco after concluding a road trip with a five-game winning streak, a slim hold on the National League lead and a theory that where there's a Wills there's a way.

The Wills leading the way is Maury, the little speedster who has turned slugger since recovering from an injury and led Los Angeles to five straight victories —the latest an 11-8 conquest of the Chicago Cubs Sunday.

Wills followed up a four-hit performance Saturday with a 3-for-5 effort against the Cubs Sunday, driving in three key runs with a bases loaded double in the sixth inning.

The spurt has raised Wills' average from .252 to .290 and revitalized a slumping Los Angeles attack just in time for the start of a two-game series tonight against third-place San Francisco.

The Giants are two games behind following their seventh straight loss, 3-0 at Houston as reliever Hal (Skinny) Brown pitched one-hit ball for the Colts over the final 6 1-3 innings in the first Sunday night game in major league history.

Second-place St. Louis, one-half game back, set the doubleheader pattern for the day by splitting with New York, losing 8-7 before walloping the Mets 10-4. Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 8-7 in 10 innings but the Reds won 3-1 behind John Tsitouris' four-hitter. Pittsburgh's Bob Friend blanked Milwaukee 4-0, then the Braves took the nightcap 5-3.

The Chicago White Sox took over first place in the American League with a 4-3 decision over Kansas City, Boston dropped Baltimore to second by edging the Orioles 3-2 in 14 innings, the New York Yankees whipped Detroit 6-2, the Los Angeles Angels downed Minnesota 4-2 and Cleveland defeated Washington 7-3.

The Mets benefited from Cardinal errors by Bill White and Stan Musial, collecting four runs on the two muffs to take a large step to the opening game victory. In the nightcap, the Cards piled up nine runs in the seventh and eighth innings — four coming on an inside-the-park grand slam homer by Tim McCarver. White also homered in support of Ray Sadecki, 3-4.

Tsitouris got all the support he needed in the Reds' nightcap triumph on homers by Vada Pinson and Pete Rose, who accounted for another run with a sacrifice fly. The Reds led the opener 7-2 behind Bob Purkey going into the ninth but homers by Don Demeter, Jim Lemon and John Callison —his second of the game—tied the score. The Phillies than pushed the winner across in the 10th on Bobby Wine's infield single.

Friend, 8-4, won the opener for the Pirates with home run support from Ted Savage and Donn Clendenon and a two-run double by Roberto Clemente. Warren Spahn, 8-3, got credit for the Braves' nightcap triumph with Bob Shaw's relief help.

Boro's Drives To Record In Buick That Is

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Big, muscular Julius Boros loomed as a clear threat for the National Open Golf championship today in the wake of his record-smashing triumph in the $52,000 Flint Open.

The solid man from North Carolina breezed around the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills "monster" course in two more sub-par showings Sunday for a 14-under-par total of 274, five strokes ahead of the field.

Boros' performance, in which he led from the start of play Friday after Thursday's rain-out, broke the Flint Open record by eight strokes. All his four rounds were sub-par.

Pocketing $9,000 in top prize money, Boros planned to put in two practice rounds in New York today prior to Tuesday's 36-hole metropolitan sectional qualifications for the open June 20-22 at Brookline, Mass.

With his 66-71-68-69 string, Boros led runner-up Dow Finsterwald by five strokes. Dow shot a 279. George Bayer was third with 280.

With a recent money-winning streak, including two tournament victories and two second places, Boros went into third place in the pros' 1963 cash earnings.

The North Carolinian's comeback after an injury-plagued 1962 season has brought him $43,325 in winnings. Jack Nicklaus leads with $57,615 and Tony Lema is second with $49,006.

Boros' 274 in the Flint broke the tournament record of 282 which Finsterwald and Art Wall Jr. set together in 1959. Finsterwalk, Bayer and George Knudson, fourth with 281, also broke the 1959 record.

Defending champion Bill Collins finished well down the list with 292.

Finsterwald Tops Field In Qualifier

CINCINNATI (AP)—The odds-on choice for medalist honors in the sectional qualifier for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament today is Dow Finsterwald, who finished second in Sunday's Buick Open at Grand Blanc, Mich.

Thirty-one golfers — 24 of them professionals—are competing for seven berths to the U.S. Open at Brookline Country Club, near Boston, June 20-22.

Play of the Clovernook Country Club's 35-36—71 par course, heavy from recent rains, is expected to go slowly.

Expected to finish close to Finsterwald are pros Don Essig of Indianapolis and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio. Other top pros include Don Bisplinghoff of Tierra Verde, Fla.; Art Doering of Columbus, Ohio; Joe Taylor of Charleston, W. Va., and Jouett Brown of Cincinnati.

Two strongly rated amateurs are John Ehlen and George Frankenfeld of Cincinnati. Bob Littler of Athens, Ohio, and John Owens of Lexington, Ky., also are expected ot do well.

Welch Belts 2 Home Runs For Bright's

A four-run outburst in the sixth inning and the long ball hitting of Welch sent George Bright's to an 8-5 victory over Woodbine in a Pony League contest Saturday at Dopler Field.

Welch smacked two home runs and drove in five markers to lead the 10-hit attack for Bright's, now winners of two games in three starts.

Leading 4-3 going into the sixth, Bright's scored four times and luckily so because Woodbine came up with two markers in the top of the seventh. Stewart with a home run and single and Cunningham with two hits chipped in on the Bright's offense.

Six was the winning pitcher while Campbell was the loser. Brewer collected two of his team's five hits.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Pan American's No. 3 player, stubby Ken Lang, was a surprise winner of the singles title, leading the team from Edinburg, Tex., to its third straight NAIA tennis championship Saturday.

Chicago Fans Go Wild As Cubs And Sox Roll

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball fans in Chicago are delightfully dizzy.

Sure, those Cubs on the North Side lost three to the Los Angeles Dodgers after sweeping four from the San Francisco Giants. But they're still up there in National League contention as they open a week's road trip tonight in Houston.

After two games in the Texas city they go to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Returning from the road for a week's home stand are the White Sox, leading the American League after a 4-3 victory at Kansas City. They take on the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night, then Los Angeles and Kansas City.

The Cubs' comeback, however, remains a hot baseball item hereabouts, and Wrigley Field has not rocked with such excitement generated by the team in years.

The largest crowd in three years —35,743—jammed the park Sunday. The Cubs lost 11-8 to the Dodgers, but there was plenty to hoot-'n-holler about — like Ernie Banks' three homers.

Rejuvenation of the Cubs has transformed Wrigley Field from a ballroom of waltzes to a rock-'n-roll pad.

Attendance is 100,000 ahead of last year, when the turnstile click faded to 609,000 — lowest since 1943. It may reach a million for the first time since 1952, when heavy-hitting Hank Sauer caught the imagination of the fans and won the league's most valuable player award.

And more teams are putting out feelers for trades than they have done in recent years.

"Three or four years ago we stated our youth move," says general manager John Holland. "Now these players are established and there is a sharp rise in interest by other teams for trades. This is natural."

Ohio Youngster Gets Bonus From St. Louis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dave Bakenhaster, outstanding high school pitcher in nearby Dublin, will be working next for Brunswick, Ga., of the Georgia-Florida League—with a fat bonus from the St. Louis Cardinals in the bank. The right-hander, 18, had been sought by most of the major league clubs before St. Louis announced signing him Sunday.

Bakenhaster pitched nine no-hitters for Dublin, and as a senior this year had a 17-0 record in leading his team into the Ohio Class A finals.

Connor's Entries Finish 1st, 2nd Over 400 Miles

Pat Connor's loft won first and second spots in the East Liverpool Racing Pigeon Club's 400-mile race from Terre Haute, Ind. Saturday.

Connor's first bird toured the distance in 9 hours, 19 minutes and 1 second while the runnerup was clocked in 9 hours, 25 minutes and 15 seconds.

Vic Giovenco's bird took third and W. Brookes was fourth.

Next Sunday, the East Liverpool Club will participate in two special races from Indianapolis. One race will be sponsored by the Youngstown Concourse and other by the Beaver Valley Concourse.

Fourteen of the 25 players with the Detroit Tigers attended college.

New Zealander Leads Driving

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (AP) — Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, who landed second place in the Belgian automobile Grand Prix on the Francorchamps road circuit, has taken over the lead in the standings for the world driving championships.

McLaren, driving a Cooper-Climax of the official Cooper team, moved into second place in the race Sunday when the leaders, Britain's Jimmy Clark and Dan Gurney, Riverside, Calif., slowed down when a driving rain storm drenched the course.

Clark, driving a Lotus-Climax of the official Lotus team, won it in 2 hours, 27 minutes, 47.6 seconds, an average of 113.789 miles per hour over the 32-lap, 280 miles course. McLaren was clocked in 110.110 m.p.h.

Radatz Is Relief Star For Bosox; Tribe Belts Nats

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

They call Dick Radatz "The Monster." And with good reason, the way the burly Boston strong-boy has been terrorizing the American League countryside.

Radatz' latest conquest came at Baltimore Sunday in a 3-2 Red Sox victory in 14 innings that shouldered the Orioles out of first place. The 6-foot-6, 245-pound fastballer again showed why he is rated as one of the best relievers in baseball by muscling his way through six scoreless innings, striking out 10 Orioles in the process.

Radatz' stout effort was backed by the Chuck Schilling-Russ Nixon hitting combination that produced the tying run in the ninth and the winning run in the 14th.

With Baltimore losing, the Chicago White Sox jumped into the lead by one-half game with a 4-3 squeaker over Kansas City. Ron Hansen doubled home the deciding run in the ninth and starter-turned reliever Juan Pizarro registered a brilliant pitching performance for the White Sox.

Also in the AL — four home runs powered the New York Yankees over Detroit 6-2, ending a three-game losing string for the Bombers; Ken McBride, on a day of personal tragedy, pitched the Los Angeles Angels to a 4-2 victory over Minnesota; and Cleveland hammered out 16 hits in whipping Washington, 7-3.

Los Angeles' National League leading Dodgers ran their winning streak to five by outscoring the Chicago Cubs 11-8, while Houston pinned the seventh successive loss on the San Francisco Giants, 3-0.

Elsewhere in the NL there were three doubleheader splits. St. Louis belted New York 10-4 after dropping an 8-7 decision to the Mets; Philadelphia nipped Cincinnati 8-7 in 10 innings, then lost 3-1 to the Reds; and the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked Milwaukee 4-0 before being tripped by the Braves 5-3.

Harry Bright, Tom Tresh, Clete Boyer and Hector Lopez all homered for the Yankees and southpaw Whitey Ford pitched an eight-hitter in winning his eighth against three losses.

The victory was only the second in the last eight games for New York and only the second in eight meetings this year with the Tigers.

McBride, whose brother was killed in an automobile accident only hours before game time, allowed seven hits before being lifted with two on and one out in the ninth against the Twins.

Vic Davalillo, Woodie Held and Fred Whitfield had three hits each as the Indians completed a three-game sweep at Washington. Gary Bell, 3-4, won it with six relief innings and the loss went to Senator starter Tom Cheney, 5-7.

5 In Row Give LA Slight Lead

Colts 'Kick' Giants, 3-0

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers prepared today for another showdown with San Francisco after concluding a road trip with a five-game winning streak, a slim hold on the National League lead and a theory that where there's a Wills there's a way.

The Wills leading the way is Maury, the little speedster who has turned slugger since recovering from an injury and led Los Angeles to five straight victories —the latest an 11-8 conquest of the Chicago Cubs Sunday.

Wills followed up a four-hit performance Saturday with a 3-for-5 effort against the Cubs Sunday, driving in three key runs with a bases loaded double in the sixth inning.

The spurt has raised Wills' average from .252 to .290 and revitalized a slumping Los Angeles attack just in time for the start of a two-game series tonight against third-place San Francisco.

The Giants are two games behind following their seventh straight loss, 3-0 at Houston as reliever Hal (Skinny) Brown pitched one-hit ball for the Colts over the final 6 1-3 innings in the first Sunday night game in major league history.

Second-place St. Louis, one-half game back, set the doubleheader pattern for the day by splitting with New York, losing 8-7 before walloping the Mets 10-4. Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 8-7 in 10 innings but the Reds won 3-1 behind John Tsitouris' four-hitter. Pittsburgh's Bob Friend blanked Milwaukee 4-0, then the Braves took the nightcap 5-3.

The Chicago White Sox took over first place in the American League with a 4-3 decision over Kansas City, Boston dropped Baltimore to second by edging the Orioles 3-2 in 14 innings, the New York Yankees whipped Detroit 6-2, the Los Angeles Angels downed Minnesota 4-2 and Cleveland defeated Washington 7-3.

The Mets benefited from Cardinal errors by Bill White and Stan Musial, collecting four runs on the two muffs to take a large step to the opening game victory. In the nightcap, the Cards piled up nine runs in the seventh and eighth innings — four coming on an inside-the-park grand slam homer by Tim McCarver. White also homered in support of Ray Sadecki, 3-4.

Tsitouris got all the support he needed in the Reds' nightcap triumph on homers by Vada Pinson and Pete Rose, who accounted for another run with a sacrifice fly. The Reds led the opener 7-2 behind Bob Purkey going into the ninth but homers by Don Demeter, Jim Lemon and John Callison —his second of the game—tied the score. The Phillies than pushed the winner across in the 10th on Bobby Wine's infield single.

Friend, 8-4, won the opener for the Pirates with home run support from Ted Savage and Donn Clendenon and a two-run double by Roberto Clemente. Warren Spahn, 8-3, got credit for the Braves' nightcap triumph with Bob Shaw's relief help.

"Three or four years ago we stated our youth move," says general manager John Holland. "Now these players are established and there is a sharp rise in interest by other teams for trades. This is natural."

Ohio Youngster Gets Bonus From St. Louis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dave Bakenhaster, outstanding high school pitcher in nearby Dublin, will be working next for Brunswick, Ga., of the Georgia-Florida League—with a fat bonus from the St. Louis Cardinals in the bank. The right-hander, 18, had been sought by most of the major league clubs before St. Louis announced signing him Sunday.

Bakenhaster pitched nine no-hitters for Dublin, and as a senior this year had a 17-0 record in leading his team into the Ohio Class A finals.

JULIUS BOROS
Sets Record In Buick.

Boro's Drives To Record In Buick That Is

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Big, muscular Julius Boros loomed as a clear threat for the National Open Golf championship today in the wake of his record-smashing triumph in the $52,000 Flint Open.

The solid man from North Carolina breezed around the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills "monster" course in two more sub-par showings Sunday for a 14-under-par total of 274, five strokes ahead of the field.

Boros' performance, in which he led from the start of play Friday after Thursday's rain-out, broke the Flint Open record by eight strokes. All his four rounds were sub-par.

Pocketing $9,000 in top prize money, Boros planned to put in two practice rounds in New York today prior to Tuesday's 36-hole metropolitan sectional qualifications for the open June 20-22 at Brookline, Mass.

With his 66-71-68-69 string, Boros led runner-up Dow Finsterwald by five strokes. Dow shot a 279. George Bayer was third with 280.

With a recent money-winning streak, including two tournament victories and two second places, Boros went into third place in the pros' 1963 cash earnings.

The North Carolinian's comeback after an injury-plagued 1962 season has brought him $43,325 in winnings. Jack Nicklaus leads with $57,615 and Tony Lema is second with $49,006.

Boros' 274 in the Flint broke the tournament record of 282 which Finsterwald and Art Wall Jr. set together in 1959. Finsterwalk, Bayer and George Knudson, fourth with 281, also broke the 1959 record.

Defending champion Bill Collins finished well down the list with 292.

Finsterwald Tops Field In Qualifier

CINCINNATI (AP)—The odds-on choice for medalist honors in the sectional qualifier for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament today is Dow Finsterwald, who finished second in Sunday's Buick Open at Grand Blanc, Mich.

Thirty-one golfers — 24 of them professionals—are competing for seven berths to the U.S. Open at Brookline Country Club, near Boston, June 20-22.

Play of the Clovernook Country Club's 35-36—71 par course, heavy from recent rains, is expected to go slowly.

Expected to finish close to Finsterwald are pros Don Essig of Indianapolis and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio. Other top pros include Don Bisplinghoff of Tierra Verde, Fla.; Art Doering of Columbus, Ohio; Joe Taylor of Charleston, W. Va., and Jouett Brown of Cincinnati.

Two strongly rated amateurs are John Ehlen and George Frankenfeld of Cincinnati. Bob Littler of Athens, Ohio, and John Owens of Lexington, Ky., also are expected ot do well.

Welch Belts 2 Home Runs For Bright's

A four-run outburst in the sixth inning and the long ball hitting of Welch sent George Bright's to an 8-5 victory over Woodbine in a Pony League contest Saturday at Dopler Field.

Welch smacked two home runs and drove in five markers to lead the 10-hit attack for Bright's, now winners of two games in three starts.

Leading 4-3 going into the sixth, Bright's scored four times and luckily so because Woodbine came up with two markers in the top of the seventh. Stewart with a home run and single and Cunningham with two hits chipped in on the Bright's offense.

Six was the winning pitcher while Campbell was the loser. Brewer collected two of his team's five hits.

New Zealander Leads Driving

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (AP) — Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, who landed second place in the Belgian automobile Grand Prix on the Francorchamps road circuit, has taken over the lead in the standings for the world driving championships.

McLaren, driving a Cooper-Climax of the official Cooper team, moved into second place in the race Sunday when the leaders, Britain's Jimmy Clark and Dan Gurney, Riverside, Calif., slowed down when a driving rain storm drenched the course.

Clark, driving a Lotus-Climax of the official Lotus team, won it in 2 hours, 27 minutes, 47.6 seconds, an average of 113.789 miles per hour over the 32-lap, 280 miles course. McLaren was clocked in 110.110 m.p.h.

Radatz Is Relief Star For Bosox; Tribe Belts Nats

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

They call Dick Radatz "The Monster." And with good reason, the way the burly Boston strong-boy has been terrorizing the American League countryside.

Radatz' latest conquest came at Baltimore Sunday in a 3-2 Red Sox victory in 14 innings that shouldered the Orioles out of first place. The 6-foot-6, 245-pound fastballer again showed why he is rated as one of the best relievers in baseball by muscling his way through six scoreless innings, striking out 10 Orioles in the process.

Radatz' stout effort was backed by the Chuck Schilling-Russ Nixon hitting combination that produced the tying run in the ninth and the winning run in the 14th.

With Baltimore losing, the Chicago White Sox jumped into the lead by one-half game with a 4-3 squeaker over Kansas City. Ron Hansen doubled home the deciding run in the ninth and starter-turned reliever Juan Pizarro registered a brilliant pitching performance for the White Sox.

Also in the AL — four home runs powered the New York Yankees over Detroit 6-2, ending a three-game losing string for the Bombers; Ken McBride, on a day of personal tragedy, pitched the Los Angeles Angels to a 4-2 victory over Minnesota; and Cleveland hammered out 16 hits in whipping Washington, 7-3.

Los Angeles' National League leading Dodgers ran their winning streak to five by outscoring the Chicago Cubs 11-8, while Houston pinned the seventh successive loss on the San Francisco Giants, 3-0.

Elsewhere in the NL there were three doubleheader splits. St. Louis belted New York 10-4 after dropping an 8-7 decision to the Mets; Philadelphia nipped Cincinnati 8-7 in 10 innings, then lost 3-1 to the Reds; and the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked Milwaukee 4-0 before being tripped by the Braves 5-3.

Harry Bright, Tom Tresh, Clete Boyer and Hector Lopez all homered for the Yankees and southpaw Whitey Ford pitched an eight-hitter in winning his eighth against three losses.

The victory was only the second in the last eight games for New York and only the second in eight meetings this year with the Tigers.

McBride, whose brother was killed in an automobile accident only hours before game time, allowed seven hits before being lifted with two on and one out in the ninth against the Twins.

Vic Davalillo, Woodie Held and Fred Whitfield had three hits each as the Indians completed a three-game sweep at Washington. Gary Bell, 3-4, won it with six relief innings and the loss went to Senator starter Tom Cheney, 5-7.

Candy Sees Spots, Also Chateaugay, In Belmont Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer Jimmy Conway always has been regarded as strictly a ladies man in the training of thoroughbred champions, but he also knows a thing or two about the colts—especially Belmont winner Chateaugay.

Chateaugay, who upset Candy Spots in the Kentucky Derby, then bowed to that California flyer in the Preakness, grabbed the rubber match in their thrilling Triple Crown duel Saturday at Aqueduct.

The stunning result abruptly reversed the 3-year-old title speculation. Rex C. Ellsworth's Candy Spots was supposed to cement his claim, but John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay rode high on the throne today.

There was a chance last week that Chateaugay wouldn't even start in the Belmont, shifted this year to Aqueduct because the Belmont Park grandstand is creaking and tottering.

It was the first time the race hadn't been staged at Belmont Park since 1905. They could have run it there, at Yankee Stadium, or down Broadway. Chateaugay and jockey Braulio Baeza permitted Willie Shoemaker on Candy Spots to set the slow pace, then blasted past them in midstretch to win the 1½-mile classic by 2½ lengths.

Until they turned into the homestretch, Chateaugay came outside for his winning bid. Candy Spots and Louis Lee Haggin 2nd's Choker were in front, but both came off the rail. Baeza shot Chateaugay down the inside and it was all over.

Mesh Tenney, Candy Spots' trainer, wasted no time. Sunday morning he put his colt on a van for Chicago, and if all goes well will start him next Saturday in the $100,000 Chicagoan at Washington Park.

Conway has no immediate plans for Chateaugay, the chestnut son of Swaps, who was sold by Ellsworth to Galbreath for $2,000,000.

Slumping G-Men Take Losing Streak To LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You probably have to go back to Athens and Sparta to find two cities less in love with each other than San Francisco and Los Angeles.

This is one way of explaining why 100,000 people will spend $250,000 the next couple of nights to watch the Giants play the Dodgers in a baseball series that will leave the two clubs no more than a few games apart with more than 100 games to go.

On the strength of their recent record, one might marvel that the Giants could outdraw a lecture on etruscan ceramics. They suffered their seventh straight loss Sunday when they were beaten 3-0 at Houston. Since they left home last month, the Giants have lost 11 of 14.

The Dodgers, who beat Chicago 11-8 Sunday, had to win their last five just to break even on their 14-game trip. But they did come home in first place, one-half game ahead of St. Louis and two games ahead of the Giants and Cubs.

Right-hander Juan Marichal (8-3) will start for San Francisco tonight against right-hander Bob Miller (4-2), who has never beaten the Giants.

Split Decision Gives Griffith Welter Title

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After three fights and 40 rounds, Emile Griffith and Luis Rodriguez are as close as a couple of teen-agers in a movie balcony.

Chances are they'll fight again. Chances are that it will be close, controversial and inconclusive.

"Sure, I'd fight him again," Griffith said after he had regained the world welterweight title for a record third time with a split, 15-round decision over the Cuban exile Saturday night.

"We gave them a rematch," Rodriguez' manager Angelo Dundee said with obvious bitterness. "I hope they have the courtesy to give us one."

Griffith, a 24-year-old native of the Virgin Islands who now lives in New York, won the first fight with Rodriguez, a split, 10-round decision before either was champion. Rodriguez, 25 and a native Cuban now fighting out of Miami, won the welterweight title when he scored a unanimous but loudly disputed decision over Griffith March 21 in Los Angeles.

Saturday, a crowd of 8,081 and a national television audience saw Griffith regain the crown in a split decision. Referee Jimmy Devlin and judge Tony Rossi voted for Griffith, 9-6 and 8-7 in rounds. Judge Joe Armstrong had it 10-5 for Rodriguez.

"I beat him inside," Griffith said later.

Ringside writers didn't agree. A poll of the writers actively covering the fight had it in favor of Rodriguez 9-4. The Associated Press had Rodriguez in front 8-6-1. A majority of the writers covering the Los Angeles fight, won by Rodriguez, favored Griffith.

Each figher went in a 146½ pounds. They were even money at fight time. Rodriguez collected $40,000, Griffith $37,500.

McKinley Swim Star Will Go To Indiana

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — John Leasure of Canton McKinley High School, the fastest scholastic backstroke swimmer in the nation during the 1963 season, has announced he will attend the University of Indiana next fall on an athletic scholarship.

Leasure, Ohio State schoolboy champ for the past three years, splashed to the national record in the state meet at Columbus with a clocking of 55 seconds flat in the 100-yard backstroke.

No-Hitter Marks 1st Starting Role

By The Associated Press

Nat Martinez, a stock fugitive from the Rochester bull-pen, boasted the most unusual statistic today in the International League —one start and one no-hitter.

Martinez, normally a mop-up man for the Red Wings, got his rare starting shot Sunday as doubleheaders depleted the pitching staff. He hurled a no-hitter in the seven-inning wrapup of a doubleheader with Jacksonville as Rochester won 5-0 for a split. Jacksonville scored 10 runs in the fifth inning of the opener en route to a 16-5 victory.

Syracuse ran its victory string to six by sweeping Arkansas 6-5 and 3-2, and Buffalo kept the Northern Division race tight by copping a pair of squeakers from Richmond 5-4 and 4-3.

The other teams divided their Sunday doubleheaders. Atlanta nipped Toronto 6-5 on a homer by catcher Dave Ricketts in the 11th inning of the first game, and the Leafs retaliated 6-2 in the second. Columbus shaded Indianapolis 5-4 in the opener, but the Indians won the nightcap 3-1 on a three-hitter by lefty Taylor Phillips.

Homers by Bob Burda and Frank Herrera gave Columbus the necessary runs to beat Indianapolis in the first game. Rex Johnson's homer deprived Phillips of a shutout in the second game.

Fall From Swing Injures Child, 4

A Wellsville child is in "satisfactory" condition today at Osteopathic Hospital with injuries suffered in a fall from a swing Saturday afternoon.

Maurice Glover, 4, son of Robert Glover, 516 Buckeye Ave., suffered a cerebral concussion and skull fracture in the fall from the swing at the 6th St. playground.

Two others were treated Saturday and one Sunday at the hospital.

Lynette Boyle, daughter of William Boyle of Salineville R. D. 1, suffered a possible fracture of the right arm in a fall at home Saturday. Joseph A. Bennett Jr., 7, son of Joseph Bennett of Chester R. D. 1, was treated for a deep laceration of the back of his head suffered when he fell from a bicycle.

Terry Nedley, 15, son of James Nedley, 1221 Anderson Ave., Wellsville, cut the palm of his right hand on a piece of glass yesterday.

Linebacker George Tarasovic of the Pittsburgh Steelers is an insurance agent in the off season.

Are Indians For Real? They'll Know Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP) — Are the Cleveland Indians really for real? Or are they just floating on a winning illusion after having whipped 10th place Washington three in a row?

The Indians will find out tonight when they open a two-game set against the Baltimore Orioles, who have just lost two in a row and dropped to second place.

Cleveland completed its victory march through Washington by swamping the Senators 7-3 Sunday on a 16-hit attack led by Vic Davalillo, Fred Whitfield and Woodie Held. Each had three hits.

The Indians now have won three straight and six of their last seven, getting solid hitting and steady pitching at the same time.

The one sad note in the latest triumph was the report of a sore arm by southpaw starter Sam McDowell. He told manager Birdie Tebbetts he felt a twinge in the first inning, but stayed around for another inning in hopes it would go away. It didn't and McDowell was removed after two innings.

Trailer Wally Bock said the strain in the upper pitching arm did not appear serious.

But when McDowell bowed out, Gary Bell came on and did a fine job for six innings. He surrendered six hits, one of them a two-run homer by Chuck Hinton, and struck out seven while walking none. Bell got credit for his third victory in seven decisions, but needed help from Ted Abernathy in the ninth. Tom Cheney (5-7) was the loser.

Davalillo got the Indians off flying in the first inning, walloping the ball 400 feet over the right center field fence for his fifth homer.

The Senators scored a run in the second and then went ahead 3-2 on Hinton's homer in the third inning.

A three-run rally in the fifth frame put Cleveland ahead 5-3 and the Indians went on to win.

Barry Latman (1-2) will pitch for the Indians tonight against southpaw Mike McCormick (1-2).

Members of the winning team were Esther Dillon, captain, Ruth Aivalotis, Betty Powell, Ruby Heldman, JoAnn Hilliard, Rosetta Krafft, Ann Watkin, Sherry Radcliffe and Margaret Wolfe. Each player on the winning team received a Volleyball emblem.

Wednesday, members of this group will hold their annual picnic at Pine Ridge Camp.

Pig In A Poke Proves Problem For Woman

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Dewey Hillyard is wondering what to do with a pig she found in a poke.

She called up the sheriff's office last weekend to say someone left the 40-pound porker in a sack in front of her home near Ohio 727. What should she do with it? Deputies advised her to keep the pig for a while to see if anyone claims it. If not—it's hers.

Lawyers, Johnson's Post Victories In Colt League

around the Lawyers seem to have the Dentists' number in the Colt League.

The score was tied 2-2 Sunday going into the seventh when the Lawyers put the game out of reach with a five - run uprising to continue their league lead.

In another contest, Sunday, Johnson's Pontiac handed Central Service another loss, 4-1.

Eight different players came up with hits for the Lawyers who scored two runs in the second inning before the Dentists tied the score in the fourth.

Walker was the winning pitcher in relief of Woods with Jeff MacLean being charged with the loss. Betz led the Dentists attack with two of the five hits including one double.

Johnson's turned in a three-run third inning giving Stepien plenty of working room. Stepien went on to limit Central Service to four hits. Locke was charged with the defeat.

Roach and Massey had two hits each for the winning Pontiac nine.

The game was featured by a triple play by Johnson's going from shortstop Massey to third baseman McFarland to second baseman Lee.

In a game played Saturday night, the Dentists came on strong in the late innings to trip Riverview Florists, 5-1.

The Dentists broke up a 1-1 contest with a two - run fifth inning then put the finishing touches to their opponent with two more markers in the seventh.

Stevens had a perfect 3-for-3 night for the winners while Ensinger smacked a double and single.

Bob Maltarich allowed only one hit until the seventh inning when Riverview collected two more.

The losers also were guilty of four errors.

Jeff Huddleston, first baseman for Riverview, made a fine running catch of a foul ball from his first base position.

Cunningham, Martin Star, Wellsville Takes Twinbill

Wellsville took a "double dip" from Kilgore in the Tri-County League Sunday sweeping both ends of doubleheader, 7-2 and 4-3.

The two - hit pitching of Butch Cunningham and the slugging of John Martin featured the first game.

Cunningham went all the way allowing only two hits and fanned 10 batters. Martin struck the big blow with a three - run homer in the sixth inning.

Errors helped Wellsville to a victory in the second game. Kilgore had four miscues but two errors in the ninth led to the Kilgore defeat.

Bob Carnahan who relieved Jack Call in the third inning received credit for the victory.

The two victories gives Wellsville a 7-3 mark but Carrollton continues to lead the League with a 7-2 mark.

Carrollton won Sunday picking up a 1-0 victory over Salineville while Irondale posted its first victory, 5-1, over Jewett.

Wellsville plays Tuesday at 6 p. m. at Jewett.

Bank Nationalization Due Soon In Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Nationalization of foreign banks in Ceylon is imminent, the weekly newspaper of the governing Freedom party says.

The newspaper Sinhale said the decision was reached at a recent Freedom party congress. Foreign banks in Ceylon include six British, one Pakistani and three Indian firms.

The decision apparently stems from Ceylon's balance of payments difficulties. The government has already nationalized the Ceylonese-owned bank of Ceylon.

Ohio Air Guard Wing Launches Training

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Members of the Ohio Air National Guard's 121st Tactical Fighter Wing begin their first two-week active duty training period since 1961 late this week. Most units of the wing will use home station facilities this year, and not leave the state except for aerial weaponry at Niagara Falls, N. Y. The training begins next Saturday.

Candy Sees Spots, Also Chateaugay, In Belmont Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer Jimmy Conway always has been regarded as strictly a ladies man in the training of thoroughbred champions, but he also knows a thing or two about the colts—especially Belmont winner Chateaugay.

Chateaugay, who upset Candy Spots in the Kentucky Derby, then bowed to that California flyer in the Preakness, grabbed the rubber match in their thrilling Triple Crown duel Saturday at Aqueduct.

The stunning result abruptly reversed the 3-year-old title speculation. Rex C. Ellsworth's Candy Spots was supposed to cement his claim, but John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay rode high on the throne today.

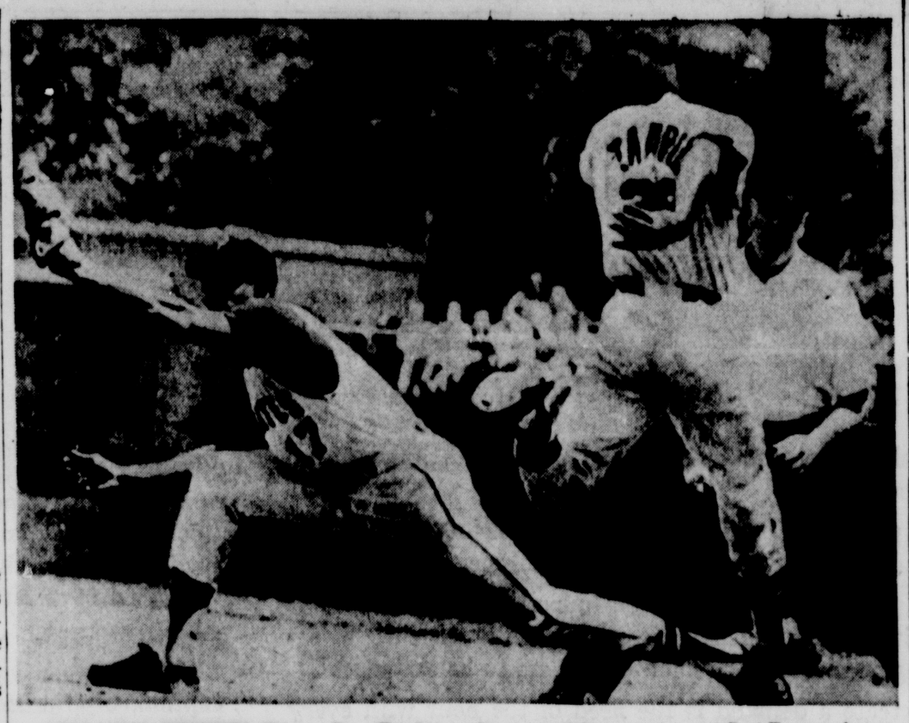

There was a chance last week that Chateaugay wouldn't even start in the Belmont, shifted this year to Aqueduct because the Belmont Park grandstand is creaking and tottering.

It was the first time the race hadn't been staged at Belmont Park since 1905. They could have run it there, at Yankee Stadium, or down Broadway. Chateaugay and jockey Braulio Baeza permitted Willie Shoemaker on Candy Spots to set the slow pace, then blasted past them in midstretch to win the 1½-mile classic by 2½ lengths.

Until they turned into the homestretch, Chateaugay came outside for his winning bid. Candy Spots and Louis Lee Haggin 2nd's Choker were in front, but both came off the rail. Baeza shot Chateaugay down the inside and it was all over.

Mesh Tenney, Candy Spots' trainer, wasted no time. Sunday morning he put his colt on a van for Chicago, and if all goes well will start him next Saturday in the $100,000 Chicagoan at Washington Park.

Conway has no immediate plans for Chateaugay, the chestnut son of Swaps, who was sold by Ellsworth to Galbreath for $2,000,000.

Slumping G-Men Take Losing Streak To LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You probably have to go back to Athens and Sparta to find two cities less in love with each other than San Francisco and Los Angeles.

This is one way of explaining why 100,000 people will spend $250,000 the next couple of nights to watch the Giants play the Dodgers in a baseball series that will leave the two clubs no more than a few games apart with more than 100 games to go.

On the strength of their recent record, one might marvel that the Giants could outdraw a lecture on etruscan ceramics. They suffered their seventh straight loss Sunday when they were beaten 3-0 at Houston. Since they left home last month, the Giants have lost 11 of 14.

The Dodgers, who beat Chicago 11-8 Sunday, had to win their last five just to break even on their 14-game trip. But they did come home in first place, one-half game ahead of St. Louis and two games ahead of the Giants and Cubs.

Right-hander Juan Marichal (8-3) will start for San Francisco tonight against right-hander Bob Miller (4-2), who has never beaten the Giants.

Split Decision Gives Griffith Welter Title

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After three fights and 40 rounds, Emile Griffith and Luis Rodriguez are as close as a couple of teen-agers in a movie balcony.

Chances are they'll fight again. Chances are that it will be close, controversial and inconclusive.

"Sure, I'd fight him again," Griffith said after he had regained the world welterweight title for a record third time with a split, 15-round decision over the Cuban exile Saturday night.

"We gave them a rematch," Rodriguez' manager Angelo Dundee said with obvious bitterness. "I hope they have the courtesy to give us one."

Griffith, a 24-year-old native of the Virgin Islands who now lives in New York, won the first fight with Rodriguez, a split, 10-round decision before either was champion. Rodriguez, 25 and a native Cuban now fighting out of Miami, won the welterweight title when he scored a unanimous but loudly disputed decision over Griffith March 21 in Los Angeles.

Saturday, a crowd of 8,081 and a national television audience saw Griffith regain the crown in a split decision. Referee Jimmy Devlin and judge Tony Rossi voted for Griffith, 9-6 and 8-7 in rounds. Judge Joe Armstrong had it 10-5 for Rodriguez.

"I beat him inside," Griffith said later.

Ringside writers didn't agree. A poll of the writers actively covering the fight had it in favor of Rodriguez 9-4. The Associated Press had Rodriguez in front 8-6-1. A majority of the writers covering the Los Angeles fight, won by Rodriguez, favored Griffith.

Each figher went in a 146½ pounds. They were even money at fight time. Rodriguez collected $40,000, Griffith $37,500.

Leasure, Ohio State schoolboy champ for the past three years, splashed to the national record in the state meet at Columbus with a clocking of 55 seconds flat in the 100-yard backstroke.

No-Hitter Marks 1st Starting Role

By The Associated Press

Nat Martinez, a stock fugitive from the Rochester bull-pen, boasted the most unusual statistic today in the International League —one start and one no-hitter.

Martinez, normally a mop-up man for the Red Wings, got his rare starting shot Sunday as doubleheaders depleted the pitching staff. He hurled a no-hitter in the seven-inning wrapup of a doubleheader with Jacksonville as Rochester won 5-0 for a split. Jacksonville scored 10 runs in the fifth inning of the opener en route to a 16-5 victory.

Syracuse ran its victory string to six by sweeping Arkansas 6-5 and 3-2, and Buffalo kept the Northern Division race tight by copping a pair of squeakers from Richmond 5-4 and 4-3.

The other teams divided their Sunday doubleheaders. Atlanta nipped Toronto 6-5 on a homer by catcher Dave Ricketts in the 11th inning of the first game, and the Leafs retaliated 6-2 in the second. Columbus shaded Indianapolis 5-4 in the opener, but the Indians won the nightcap 3-1 on a three-hitter by lefty Taylor Phillips.

Homers by Bob Burda and Frank Herrera gave Columbus the necessary runs to beat Indianapolis in the first game. Rex Johnson's homer deprived Phillips of a shutout in the second game.

Fall From Swing Injures Child, 4

A Wellsville child is in "satisfactory" condition today at Osteopathic Hospital with injuries suffered in a fall from a swing Saturday afternoon.

Maurice Glover, 4, son of Robert Glover, 516 Buckeye Ave., suffered a cerebral concussion and skull fracture in the fall from the swing at the 6th St. playground.

Two others were treated Saturday and one Sunday at the hospital.

Lynette Boyle, daughter of William Boyle of Salineville R. D. 1, suffered a possible fracture of the right arm in a fall at home Saturday. Joseph A. Bennett Jr., 7, son of Joseph Bennett of Chester R. D. 1, was treated for a deep laceration of the back of his head suffered when he fell from a bicycle.

Terry Nedley, 15, son of James Nedley, 1221 Anderson Ave., Wellsville, cut the palm of his right hand on a piece of glass yesterday.

Linebacker George Tarasovic of the Pittsburgh Steelers is an insurance agent in the off season.

Are Indians For Real? They'll Know Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP) — Are the Cleveland Indians really for real? Or are they just floating on a winning illusion after having whipped 10th place Washington three in a row?

The Indians will find out tonight when they open a two-game set against the Baltimore Orioles, who have just lost two in a row and dropped to second place.

Cleveland completed its victory march through Washington by swamping the Senators 7-3 Sunday on a 16-hit attack led by Vic Davalillo, Fred Whitfield and Woodie Held. Each had three hits.

The Indians now have won three straight and six of their last seven, getting solid hitting and steady pitching at the same time.

The one sad note in the latest triumph was the report of a sore arm by southpaw starter Sam McDowell. He told manager Birdie Tebbetts he felt a twinge in the first inning, but stayed around for another inning in hopes it would go away. It didn't and McDowell was removed after two innings.

Trailer Wally Bock said the strain in the upper pitching arm did not appear serious.

But when McDowell bowed out, Gary Beli came on and did a fine job for six innings. He surrendered six hits, one of them a two-run homer by Chuck Hinton, and struck out seven while walking none. Bell got credit for his third victory in seven decisions, but needed help from Ted Abernathy in the ninth. Tom Cheney (5-7) was the loser.

Davalillo got the Indians off flying in the first inning, walloping the ball 400 feet over the right center field fence for his fifth homer.

The Senators scored a run in the second and then went ahead 3-2 on Hinton's homer in the third inning.

A three-run rally in the fifth frame put Cleveland ahead 5-3 and the Indians went on to win.

Barry Latman (1-2) will pitch for the Indians tonight against southpaw Mike McCormick (1-2).

Members of the winning team were Esther Dillon, captain, Ruth Aivalotis, Betty Powell, Ruby Heldman, JoAnn Hilliard, Rosetta Krafft, Ann Watkin, Sherry Radcliffe and Margaret Wolfe. Each player on the winning team received a Volleyball emblem.

Cunningham, Martin Star, Wellsville Takes Twinbill

Wellsville took a "double dip" from Kilgore in the Tri-County League Sunday sweeping both ends of doubleheader, 7-2 and 4-3.

The two - hit pitching of Butch Cunningham and the slugging of John Martin featured the first game.

Cunningham went all the way allowing only two hits and fanned 10 batters. Martin struck the big blow with a three - run homer in the sixth inning.

Errors helped Wellsville to a victory in the second game. Kilgore had four miscues but two errors in the ninth led to the Kilgore defeat.

Bob Carnahan who relieved Jack Call in the third inning received credit for the victory.

The two victories gives Wellsville a 7-3 mark but Carrollton continues to lead the League with a 7-2 mark.

Carrollton won Sunday picking up a 1-0 victory over Salineville while Irondale posted its first victory, 5-1, over Jewett.

Wellsville plays Tuesday at 6 p. m. at Jewett.

The decision apparently stems from Ceylon's balance of payments difficulties. The government has already nationalized the Ceylonese-owned bank of Ceylon.

The principles of good advertising never change

Advertising is something you do when you cannot send a personal salesman.

And the principles of effective person-to-person selling haven't changed basically since the first man who built a better mouse trap extolled its virtues to his neighbors. Selling by means of advertising (which is really selling to the thousands rather than to one person at a time) still operates according to these same rules which have long been the basis of effective mass-selling.

Surprising as it may seem to those who think of advertising as "a Johnny come lately," these principles were known and were in use half a century ago

. . . as you will see when you read this talk given before the Springfield Ad Men's Club on November 7, 1907.

Good advertising is a salesman talking to hundreds of customers at once.

The public is cautious, sometimes suspicious; this is why most advertisers find their task burdensome.

The problem of dealing with human nature is the most difficult of all problems. Silver tongues are needed in exploiting one's wares if golden results are to be expected.

To create a demand is the need of the hour with every business man.

Definite policies must be pursued and the persuasive touch in advertising discovered.

To find the psychological moment for the exploitation of new wares causes concern.

The day has passed when any old thing will do. One must be fertile in ideas.

The coining of new phrases is essential; to study is imperative; nonsense must be avoided and common sense must prevail; percentages must be calcuated; conditions not overstated.

To back up religiously everything of his that appears in cold type is every advertiser's duty.

Extravagance in statement is the mother of suspicion.

Make the do-so of your advertisement just a little better than the say-so.

Pyrotechnical advertising loses its value with the dying out of the flare.

It is bad policy to get the best of a man. He'll get back at you some way—some day—dead sure.

The real object of advertising is to inform, not to deceive.

The philosophy of the grafter when he says:

"Let us then be up and doing,
With a bluff for any man;
And if you can't do everybody,
Do as many as you can"

must be eliminated.

The question of the How, the Why, the What and the When is a stern proposition to the advertiser.

What is needed in the advertising business is a repair shop for the renovation of old ideas.

To succeed one must possess the ability to transform doubt into certainty.

A good advertisement is the thing that makes a lot of people want to get there first.

Bargain counter people must still be reckoned with.

The cleverest ad-writer is he who can write a line that will make people think a column.

The best advertisement is one that makes a definite proposition.

The shorter the advertisement, the more genius is required to produce it.

Simplicity is essential.

The expert formerly wrote this way—"An exquisite and delightful apparel conception for juvenile wear." Now he puts it—"A pretty little coat for the baby."

The printed page cannot appeal directly to any of the senses except the eye, but the argument may be of such a nature that the reader's senses are appealed to indirectly through his imagination.

The nervous system which does not respond to sound or to any other of the sensible qualities is a defective nervous system. Advertisements are sometimes spoken of as the nervous system of the business world.

That advertisement of musical instruments which contains nothing to awaken images of sound is a defective advertisement.

That advertisement of foods which contains nothing to awaken images of taste is a defective advertisement.

The survival of the fittest seems to be a law of advertising as it is of everything else that develops. Traditionally, the practical business man scoffs at theory. If ever there was ground to expect sarcastic and pessimistic prophecies from the hard headed business man, it was when it was proposed to establish advertising on a theoretical basis deduced from psychology. Such adverse criticism has, however, been the exception.

The American business man is not afraid of theories. He wants them, and the more the better. The advertisement writer is really a psychologist, since he seeks to influence the human mind.

Human nature is a great factor in advertising success and he who writes advertisements without reference to it is apt to find that he has reckoned without his host.

If we are to find and to express the psychological laws upon which the art of advertising is based, we shall have made a distinct advance, for we shall have added the science to the art of advertising.

The mere mention of psychological terms, habit, self, conception, discrimination, association, memory, imagination, perception, reason, emotion, instinct and will, should create a flood of new thought that should appeal to every thoughtful consumer of advertising space. The up-to-date business man should leave off groping in the dark and come out into the open.

Just how extensively an article will sell, depends upon just how good or bad the copy is—that is, how explicit or convincing it is.

Let me say a few words about good copy.

Good Copy

FIRST. There must be a definite motive or purpose. Be specific as to your central idea. A well defined idea to which the wording lends itself harmoniously and effectually and which convinces, while it attracts and charms.

SECOND. Your copy must be full of life. Action begets action. Good things happen when Energy gets chummy with Enterprise.

> Good copy is the poetry of advertising. It is taking a plain fact and making it plainer and more impressive by the art of the language. It is a song which lures and educates and prompts to action.

THIRD. Take the position of the prospective buyer. Would you be influenced by your own advertisement? A wise plan after writing the ad, is to step out of your position into that of the position of the purchaser and see if you have made clear every point that would tend to influence you to buy the goods.

FOURTH. Vary your copy so as to reach different types of people. To make a successful bid for the patronage of the public, the whole social order should be studied and carefully considered.

> To stoop to the use of second rate copy and to buy cheap designs to fill expensively paid-for space, will ultimately show in decreased profits leaving in the minds of the readers a question as to the quality of your goods.

FIFTH. Know all you can about the goods you advertise, their manufacture and uses. The man who is most conversant with the details of the manufacture and use of the article can best tell others about it. You must believe in the merits of your own goods.

SIXTH. Study the idea of leadership, of leading and influencing others.

> It is growing more difficult to strike a new line of expression because advertising has grown to such enormous proportions and has drawn into its surface so many varied talents, that to hit upon something new can almost be considered a discovery.

SEVENTH. Read the classics for new ideas and improved forms for expression–Shakespeare, Emerson and the Prophets of the Old Testament. The writings of David in the Psalms indicate that he was a past grand master of expressive word weaving. He was especially effective in the direct command and in the harmonious reiteration of an idea. You would do well to note how he could start the interest and work towards the climax.

EIGHTH. Feature your advertisement to suit the times and seasons.

NINTH. Study your prospective buyers, first, with the idea of reaching a possible need; second, with the intention of supplying it in a superior manner.

TENTH. Always keep before you the question, "Will it bring results?" That should be both the first and the last question in judging good copy. You may have burned the night oil, written and re-edited and given to the sharp teeth of the type your masterpiece, and then left out the very necessary feature that makes for results.

Finally, your copy should be ready 24 hours before the enterprising newspaper men call for it.

Reflection frequently uncovers a multitude of errors.

The up-to-date business man should leave off groping in the dark and come out into the open.

Just how extensively an article will sell, depends upon just how good or bad the copy is—that is, how explicit or convincing it is.

Let me say a few words about good copy.

Good Copy

FIRST. There must be a definite motive or purpose. Be specific as to your central idea. A well defined idea to which the wording lends itself harmoniously and effectually and which convinces, while it attracts and charms.

SECOND. Your copy must be full of life. Action begets action. Good things happen when Energy gets chummy with Enterprise.

> Good copy is the poetry of advertising. It is taking a plain fact and making it plainer and more impressive by the art of the language. It is a song which lures and educates and prompts to action.

THIRD. Take the position of the prospective buyer. Would you be influenced by your own advertisement? A wise plan after writing the ad, is to step out of your position into that of the position of the purchaser and see if you have made clear every point that would tend to influence you to buy the goods.

FOURTH. Vary your copy so as to reach different types of people. To make a successful bid for the patronage of the public, the whole social order should be studied and carefully considered.

> To stoop to the use of second rate copy and to buy cheap designs to fill expensively paid-for space, will ultimately show in decreased profits leaving in the minds of the readers a question as to the quality of your goods.

FIFTH. Know all you can about the goods you advertise, their manufacture and uses. The man who is most conversant with the details of the manufacture and use of the article can best tell others about it. You must believe in the merits of your own goods.

SIXTH. Study the idea of leadership, of leading and influencing others.

> It is growing more difficult to strike a new line of expression because advertising has grown to such enormous proportions and has drawn into its surface so many varied talents, that to hit upon something new can almost be considered a discovery.

SEVENTH. Read the classics for new ideas and improved forms for expression—Shakespeare, Emerson and the Prophets of the Old Testament. The writings of David in the Psalms indicate that he was a past grand master of expressive word weaving. He was especially effective in the direct command and in the harmonious reiteration of an idea. You would do well to note how he could start the interest and work towards the climax.

EIGHTH. Feature your advertisement to suit the times and seasons.

NINTH. Study your prospective buyers, first, with the idea of reaching a possible need; second, with the intention of supplying it in a superior manner.

TENTH. Always keep before you the question, "Will it bring results?" That should be both the first and the last question in judging good copy. You may have burned the night oil, written and re-edited and given to the sharp teeth of the type your masterpiece, and then left out the very necessary feature that makes for results.

Finally, your copy should be ready 24 hours before the enterprising newspaper men call for it.

Reflection frequently uncovers a multitude of errors.

Assembly Spurs Ohio Money Bill

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's lawmakers return to Columbus tonight for their 24th week of work and possible final action on the key bill of the legislative session—the $1.3-billion general appropriations bill.

Action on the big money measure in the Senate possibly could mean that working sessions could end June 21. Any delay in that schedule could postpone the final working session until June 28, however, and delay the sine die adjournment date to July 15.

Whenever a legislature adjourns sine die (the Latin term for "without naming a day" for reconvening), only the governor can call the lawmakers back into session before the first Monday in January 1965.

It is generally expected that Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes will call the legislature back into special session either late this year or early in 1964 to consider state government reorganization recommendations by his so-called "Little Hoover Commission."

One of the matters up for a House vote tonight is a proposal to establish a camp for delinquent boys on an abandoned radar site in eastern Trumbull County to accommodate youngsters committed from Trumbull, Ashtabula, Lake, Geauga and Portage counties.

Also down for a House vote this week is a bill to permit voter approval of an income tax for support of community colleges, technical institutes, vocational schools and state university branches. As brought up originally, the proposal would have permitted public school districts to levy an income tax of up to one per cent.

Because of a vagary in the establishment of state lines, the Ohio border extends only to the low-water mark on the Ohio side of the Ohio River where it borders West Virginia and Kentucky. This has created a number of boating, fishing and police problems. A resolution will be before the House this week authorizing a three-state conference on the problems.

2 Young Motorists Deprived Of Licenses

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of driving permits of two youths. Another was fined and ordered not to apply for a license for 90 days.

The permit of Abraham J. Thomas, 16, of Columbiana was suspended for 90 days for reckless operation, and Randy Engle, 16, of East Rochester R. D. 1, 60 days for allowing an unlicensed minor to operate his borrowed car.

Allen Miner, 16, of Hanoverton R.D. was fined $25 and ordered not to apply for license for 90 days.

Engle also was ordered to pay $125 and Miner $120 for damages to the car Miner wrecked while driving without a license. Both were cited by Chief Juvenile Officer Cornelius Csepke, and Thomas by the State Highway Patrol.

The federal government collected more than $4.7 billion in automotive taxes the last fiscal year.

18 'Adelines' Attend Event

Eighteen members of the East Liverpool Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., were among 150 attending the installation program of Tri-City Chapter Friday night at the Howland Community Church of Warren.

Mrs. Betty Pettibon, substitute director, directed the chorus in several selections. A quartet, Mrs. Juanita Garver, Mrs. Nancy Beaver, Mrs. Loretta Willoughby and Mrs. Jan Dietz, sang "Basin St. Blues" and "Give Me That Old-time Religion."

Several other quartets and a SPEBSQSA group, "The Firehouse Four," also sang.

Mrs. Dietz, vice president and delegate of the local group, and Mrs. Betty Damaska, past president, conducted the candlelight installation ceremony.

Mrs. Pettibon directed the audience in the closing song, "Harmonize the World."

Glenn Woods, director, who has been on a leave of absence, will be present for the next meeting Friday at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Boy, 16, Wrecks Family's Sedan

A 16-year-old youth escaped with only contusions of the scalp but his family's 1960 sedan was demolished when he lost control and skidded some 210 feet Friday night on the city freeway, striking the lane divider and guardrails, police reported.

Larry Allen Maple, son of Allen C. Maple of St. Clair Ave. Ext., was treated at City Hospital at 8:15 p. m. for his injuries and then released. The mishap was timed at 7:44 p. m.

The youth, who said he was alone in the auto, told police he was headed east about 55 miles an hour when the car went off the right side of the freeway.

Young Maple lost control and the car skidded 117 feet before striking the divider, Patrolman L. E. Richard said.

After striking the divider, the auto spun around and skidded backwards for 36 feet with the rear end striking the guardrails. Continuing to spin, the car finally came to a halt 57 feet from the point where it struck the guardrails, the officer said.

The youth was referred to juvenile authorities, police said.

32 Jump Into Cars And Outrace Tornado

JANESVILLE, Minn. (AP)—A farmer, his family and guests at a birthday party for the man's wife raced away in cars Sunday to escape a tornado that wrecked most of the farm buildings.

About 32 persons were at the Robert Britton farm for Mrs. Britton's birthday. The sky suddenly darkened and a funnel was seen approaching from the west.

Piling into a half dozen cars, everyone at the place drove off ahead of the twister. They were about a mile away when the funnel swept into the farmyard.

Assembly Spurs Ohio Money Bill

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's lawmakers return to Columbus tonight for their 24th week of work and possible final action on the key bill of the legislative session—the $1.3-billion general appropriations bill.

Action on the big money measure in the Senate possibly could mean that working sessions could end June 21. Any delay in that schedule could postpone the final working session until June 25, however, and delay the sine die adjournment date to July 15.

Whenever a legislature adjourns sine die (the Latin term for "without naming a day" for reconvening), only the governor can call the lawmakers back into session before the first Monday in January 1965.

It is generally expected that Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes will call the legislature back into special session either late this year or early in 1964 to consider state government reorganization recommendations by his so-called "Little Hoover Commission."

One of the matters up for a House vote tonight is a proposal to establish a camp for delinquent boys on an abandoned radar site in eastern Trumbull County to accommodate youngsters committed from Trumbull, Ashtabula, Lake, Geauga and Portage counties.

Also down for a House vote this week is a bill to permit voter approval of an income tax for support of community colleges, technical institutes, vocational schools and state university branches. As brought up originally, the proposal would have permitted public school districts to levy an income tax of up to one per cent.

Because of a vagary in the establishment of state lines, the Ohio border extends only to the low-water mark on the Ohio side of the Ohio River where it borders West Virginia and Kentucky. This has created a number of boating, fishing and police problems. A resolution will be before the House this week authorizing a three-state conference on the problems.

2 Young Motorists Deprived Of Licenses

LISBON — Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of driving permits of two youths. Another was fined and ordered not to apply for a license for 90 days.

The permit of Abraham J. Thomas, 16, of Columbiana was suspended for 90 days for reckless operation, and Randy Engle, 16, of East Rochester R. D. 1, 60 days for allowing an unlicensed minor to operate his borrowed car.

Allen Miner, 16, of Hanoverton R.D. was fined $25 and ordered not to apply for license for 90 days.

Engle also was ordered to pay $125 and Miner $120 for damages to the car Miner wrecked while driving without a license. Both were cited by Chief Juvenile Officer Cornelius Csepke, and Thomas by the State Highway Patrol.

The federal government collected more than $4.7 billion in automotive taxes the last fiscal year.

18 'Adelines' Attend Event

Eighteen members of the East Liverpool Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., were among 150 attending the installation program of Tri-City Chapter Friday night at the Howland Community Church of Warren.

Mrs. Betty Pettibon, substitute director, directed the chorus in several selections. A quartet, Mrs. Juanita Garver, Mrs. Nancy Beaver, Mrs. Loretta Willoughby and Mrs. Jan Dietz, sang "Basin St. Blues" and "Give Me That Old-time Religion."

Several other quartets and a SPEBSQSA group, "The Firehouse Four," also sang.

Mrs. Dietz, vice president and delegate of the local group, and Mrs. Betty Damaska, past president, conducted the candlelight installation ceremony.

Mrs. Pettibon directed the audience in the closing song, "Harmonize the World."

Glenn Woods, director, who has been on a leave of absence, will be present for the next meeting Friday at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Boy, 16, Wrecks Family's Sedan

A 16-year-old youth escaped with only contusions of the scalp but his family's 1960 sedan was demolished when he lost control and skidded some 210 feet Friday night on the city freeway, striking the lane divider and guardrails, police reported.

Larry Allen Maple, son of Allen C. Maple of St. Clair Ave. Ext., was treated at City Hospital at 8:15 p. m. for his injuries and then released. The mishap was timed at 7:44 p. m.

The youth, who said he was alone in the auto, told police he was headed east about 55 miles an hour when the car went off the right side of the freeway.

Young Maple lost control and the car skidded 117 feet before striking the divider, Patrolman L. E. Richard said.

After striking the divider, the auto spun around and skidded backwards for 36 feet with the rear end striking the guardrails. Continuing to spin, the car finally came to a halt 57 feet from the point where it struck the guardrails, the officer said.

The youth was referred to juvenile authorities, police said.

32 Jump Into Cars And Outrace Tornado

JANESVILLE, Minn. (AP)—A farmer, his family and guests at a birthday party for the man's wife raced away in cars Sunday to escape a tornado that wrecked most of the farm buildings.

About 32 persons were at the Robert Britton farm for Mrs. Britton's birthday. The sky suddenly darkened and a funnel was seen approaching from the west.

Piling into a half dozen cars, everyone at the place drove off ahead of the twister. They were about a mile away when the funnel swept into the farmyard.

Today is Monday, June 10

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the Germans wiped out the Czech village of Lidice. The massacre was ordered because the villagers allegedly had given refuge to assassins of Nazi official Reinhard Heydrich.

On this date:

In 1610, the first Dutch settlers arrived on the Island of Manhattan.

In 1610, Bridget Bishop was hanged as a witch in Salem, Mass.—the first defendant of the Salem witch trials.

In 1769, John Hancock's sloop Liberty was seized with a cargo of Madeira wine as a rum-runner by British customs agents. It was one of the turbulent incidents leading to the Revolution.

In 1939, King George and Queen Elizabeth were honor guests at the New York World's Fair.

In 1940, Italy declared war against Britain and France.

Ten years ago: President Eisenhower rejected the "fortress theory of defense" under which the United States would be expected to stand by itself, independent of the other free nations.

Five years ago: A political bombshell hit the Eisenhower administration when a House committee released records indicating Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine had paid hotel bills for presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

One year ago: One person was killed and 243 injured when a Northern Pacific train was derailed and plunged down an embankment near Missoula, Mont.

Any mint flavoring in the house? Flavor chocolate milk with it, add scoops of chocolate ice cream and you'll have a dream offering for teen-agers or oldsters. Small fry will probably prefer this refreshing beverage without the mint flavoring, and may prefer to have vanilla rather than chocolate ice cream in the chocolate-flavored milk.

Junior Editors Quiz on GEORGE WASHINGTON

QUESTION: Why is George Washington called the "father of his country"?

ANSWER: Washington showed strength of body and mind even as a boy. He liked outdoor activities, such as riding, rowing and sailing. He learned arithmetic, which helped him keep track of his affairs. He learned how to be civil to people, writing in his note book "Use no reproachful language against any one . . . " Washington loved the country he was born in; he saw that it's people were determined to have freedom and he determined to help them, knowing that the fight would be long and bitter.

As he took command of the army, everything was confused and uncertain. Washington's strong character brought direction, his courage and faith inspired his soldiers to victory against enormous odds. After the victory, his devotion to republican principles led him to turn down a suggestion by certain army officers that he become king. He saw the need for a strong constitution and presided as it was created. Then, as first president, Washington steered the country onto the course which led to it's future and our present.

A kind, wise father loves his child and cares and guides him as he grows up. This is what Washington did for the newly born United States, and this is the answer to your question.

FOR YOU TO DO: We all know about Washington the man, but the story of his boyhood is not so well known. See if you can find out more about his interests as a boy. What were the rest of the "Rules for Civility" he wrote about on those sheets of paper which his mother sewed into a note book?
